Loss Fixed At $2,300

Appliances Taken At Store In Newell

Hancock County sheriff's deputies launched an investigation over the weekend into a $2,300 robbery of a Newell appliance shop in which the loss included 28 portable radios, 7 portable television sets, a high fidelity record player and other items.

Deputies said fingerprints were being taken at the Central Service appliance shop at 4th and Washington Sts., which was looted by thieves between 11 p. m. Saturday and noon Sunday.

The building is owned by Tony Mangano, who told deputies the loot also included a set of expensive mechanics' tools, several dollars pilfered from a desk drawer and a number of electric irons, clocks and other appliances.

Deputies said the building was entered by smashing glass in a rear window. The thieves apparently lifted the appliances through the window into a waiting truck, deputies believe.

An employe of the appliance shop said that the store's cash register had been tampered with, but not opened. It contained only a small amount of cash, she said. A safe appeared to have been ignored, she added.

The radios taken included combination clock-radios and transistors. The television sets were all famous brand models. The culprits also made off with a demonstration record on the phonograph set, a store employe said.

Police Report Losses In 2 Palestine Thefts

EAST PALESTINE — Police today reported a total of $190 stolen in thefts at a veterans club and an auto agency last week.

Some $146 was in a leather bag taken from the safe of Brittain Motors of E. Clark St. Thursday. The bag was placed in the office safe about 10 a. m. and found missing about 1 p. m. It was believed for a while the bag had been misplaced.

About $44 was taken from the bar of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4579 of E. Taggart St. sometime Friday night or Saturday morning by a thief who removed a storm window at the rear of the building to enter.

The loss was discovered by Robert Gregory of W. Martin St., operator of the bar, when he opened the barroom about 10 a. m. He said the thief took some change in a glass jar along with some cash on the bar.

Lawyers Map Next Step

Not Interested In Appeal, Pacifist Pastor Declares

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two lawyers have one more week to decide the frustrating problem of whether to fight the conviction of a stubborn pacifist minister.

The Rev. Maurice F. McCrackin says he doesn't want an appeal on his conviction on a charge of ignoring a summons to an income tax conference.

His two court-appointed attorneys, convinced that the pastor was wrongly convicted, aren't sure what the law allows them to do.

"We have searched and have found no precedent covering our problem," said Fred Dewey, professor of law at the University of Cincinnati.

He said he and Theodore M. Berry, the other court-appointed attorney, think they could file for a new trial.

Dewey said, "We feel the court erred in making remarks about taxes and other matters that were not in evidence and about which we were forbidden by the judge to touch upon."

Before sentencing the minister to six months in prison and a $250 fine, the judge denounced him for his stand against paying income taxes because they help pay for war weapons.

Dewey said, "We think we have good grounds for an appeal," but he said Rev. McCrackin's complete lack of cooperation with his attorneys "may present difficulties."

He said testimony failed to show the Internal Revenue Service agent who issued the summons had the authority to do so.

From his jail cell, Rev. McCrackin said Saturday, "from the start I have said that this is not a legal battle.

"This is a moral struggle. It is a struggle against the evil of war and the evil of the involvement of the courts in the collection of funds for this evil.

"I have never denied that I ignored the summons.

"I don't want this fought through on a technical point as to whether the summons was properly issued, but on the point that a government does not have the right to coerce the conscience of its citizens."

The minister said he hopes to continue as pastor of the Presbyterian-Episcopal church here and as director of its neighborhood house.

City Modifies Ticketing For Traffic Flow

Residential Districts To Escape Citations For 90-Day Period

Police were ordered Sunday not to tag motorists parked against the free flow of traffic in residential areas after the administration received new complaints on tickets issued Saturday night and early Sunday.

Signed by Chief Americo Radeschi and approved by Safety-Service Director Dan Maggianetti, the order will amend a city ordinance for a 90-day period to exclude the residential areas.

The ban on parking against the flow of traffic in the business section will remain in effect, the order provides. It defines the business section as the area bounded on the north by 9th St., south by 2nd St., east by College St. and west by Jefferson St.

Maggianetti said the administration acted after one officer, whom he declined to identify, tagged seven autos on Avondale St., one on St. Clair Ave. and one on Walnut St.

The officer either didn't have the new green warning tickets or didn't see fit to use them, the director said. The administration is continuing its investigation, he said.

Maggianetti said the warning tickets were introduced last week so police could warn motorists they were violating a city ordinance.

The instructions to the department point out that Section 470 of the city code will be amended for 90 days to exclude the residential area but to include the business section.

The section reads: "No vehicle shall be stopped or parked on a road or highway with the vehicle facing in a direction other than the direction of travel on that side of the road or highway."

The order amending the law for the three-month period points out the police chief with the approval of the director is empowered to make and enforce temporary regulations covering emergencies for a period not to exceed 90 days.

All policemen are required to read the order and then sign, with the date and time they read it.

It was the second consecutive weekend in which auto owners found their cars tagged when they parked against the flow of traffic.

State Board Will Hear Hillcrest Area Petition

A petition from a group of Hillcrest area residents seeking to have the district transferred to the Wellsville School District will be heard by the State Department of Education Thursday afternoon.

The Columbiana County Board of Education earlier this year rejected the proposed transfer of the Hillcrest area from the new Southern Local District. Hillcrest was a part of the former Yellow Creek District, which was consolidated under Southern Local.

A final ruling on the petition probably will be made by the State Board in January, after hearing the petition this week.

West Is Firm On Berlin; Reds' Radio Blasts Stand

Russia Raps Ignoring Of Its Proposal

Moscow Broadcast Contains Threat Of Action If Necessary

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio charged the foreign ministers of the Western Big Three with ignoring the Soviet proposal to make Berlin a demilitarized free city.

The broadcast was the first brief Soviet comment on the foreign ministers' statement in Paris Sunday that their governments would not be forced out of West Berlin and would not do business with the East German regime.

The Soviet radio said the Western communique "bears witness to their unwillingness to allow any change in the abnormal situation in Berlin.

"In essence, it gives no reply to the Soviet proposals."

This was followed by a fresh promise in Pravda to defend Communist East Germany from aggression.

"The Soviet Union will not be hampered by irresponsible threats made by certain Western windbags who declare they will hold a clear road to Berlin with troops and tanks," the party organ said.

"If aggression against the (East) German Democratic Republic were nevertheless carried out, the Soviet Union, as the German Democratic Republic's loyal ally in the Warsaw Treaty, will fulfill its obligations and together with the German Democratic Republic will defend the integrity of her land, water and aerial frontiers."

Pravda's direct reference to East Germany's aerial frontiers could be taken as a warning against any attempt to airlift supplies to West Berlin if it is again cut off from the West.

Western and neutral diplomats in Moscow voiced belief that the sharp tone of new statements from Premier Nikita Khrushchev indicated a possibility of cutting short the six-month period he originally set for negotiations with the West on Berlin.

Police Motion Slated Friday

2 Men Found Guilty Due In Lisbon Court

A motion for a new trial for Ira Cunningham, former city policeman, and Jerry Raimond, ex-special officer, will be heard by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard Friday morning, according to Norman Ward, assignment commissioner.

Cunningham and Raimond were found guilty Nov. 21 by a Common Pleas Court jury on a charge of breaking and entering the Burbick Hardware Co. store in March 1952. Robert Carroll, former officer, was acquitted.

Cunningham was released Thursday from the Ohio Valley General Hospital at Wheeling, where he had been a patient since Nov. 29.

A hearing on a motion for a new trial for Louis (Mike) Stuttler, former officer found guilty of a burglary in a trial last week, will be held Dec. 23 before Judge Buzzard.

Shotgun Blast Takes Life Of Guilford Man

Acting Coroner Cites Possibility Of Mishap In John Brain Death

A 51-year-old Lisbon area coal mine operator accidentally killed himself when his shotgun discharged as he was cleaning it in the office of his strip mine Sunday afternoon.

John C. (Jack) Brain of near Guilford Lake was wounded fatally when the weapon discharged, the blast hitting him in the chest, Dr. William Kolozsi of Salem, acting deputy county coroner, said. Dr. Kolozsi said that while the death appeared to be accidental, he planned an autopsy today.

Sheriff's deputy James Miller said the mishap occurred about 2:22—the time Brian's watch stopped, apparently from the blast.

The body was discovered about 4 p. m. by Eugene Beckwith, an employe of Brain who resides in a trailer at the rear of the mine office, which is located along Roller Coaster Rd. about three miles southeast of Lisbon.

The strip mine is known as the Brain Coal Co. Brain had been in the strip mine business since 1933.

He was born Oct. 4, 1907, at New Waterford, a son of George and Mary Elizabeth Moon Brain. He was a member of the New Waterford Methodist Church.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alice Spence; two sisters, Mrs. Lela Zimmerman of Columbiana and Mrs. Maude Gilmore of Rogers; a half-brother, Russell Coppock of Columbiana, and three step-brothers, Chalmer Coppock of Lisbon, Paul Coppock of New Waterford and Earl Coppock of Falls Church, Va.

Services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 at the Eells-Leggett Funeral Home. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call Tuesday from 4 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m. at the funeral home.

U.S. Undersecretary Departs For Baghdad

CAIRO (AP)—U.S. Undersecretary of State William M. Rountree left by plane today for Baghdad as all Cairo papers predicted another upheaval in Iraq.

Rountree has been touring the Middle East. He conferred at length Sunday with President Nasser.

In recent weeks tension has arisen between Arab nationalists and Communists in Iraq.

7 Lose Lives In Explosion At Allentown

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A darkroom technician who wanted to be a newspaper photographer stopped on his way home from work to take pictures of a gas main explosion. Minutes later, he and six other curious spectators lost their lives in a second blast.

Lester S. Kraft Jr. 29, a camera bug hired last September by the Allentown Call-Chronicle, was driving home late Saturday night after work. As he reached the outskirts of this southeastern Pennsylvania city, he saw a huge jet of flaming gas shoot up through the street paving from a broken main.

He parked and ran with his camera to the front porch of the 120-year-old Mountainville Hotel, a good spot from which to see the spectacular fire. Others also had gathered on the porch, or near it, to watch.

Minutes later the second explosion ripped the building apart. Tons of brick and stone buried the six victims. Twenty-three others were injured, two critically.

The second blast was followed by a series of lesser explosions as leaking gas ignited in the streets around the hotel.

The operators of the hotel, actually a tavern with living quarters on the second floor, were Mr. and Mrs. George Andresack. Mrs. Andresack's timely warning to some 50 patrons probably kept the death toll down.

"I went to the cellar door after I smelled gas and when I opened it, the odor was very heavy," she said.

"I yelled to the patrons to put out their cigarettes and get out because I was afraid of an explosion.

In addition to Kraft, the dead were William Gruber and Perry Miller, both 16, who had just left a nearby roller skating rink; William MacLean; Walter Leitger, 37; Barry Glass, 17; and Maynard Haebner, 39, all of Allentown.

The U.S. consulate general and the Hong Kong government said they had no official confirmation of the report.

Defense Need Taken Up By GOP Leaders

Stress On Security At Present Proves Surprise At Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower gave general budget problems and defense spending top priority at a conference today with Republican congressional leaders.

The emphasis on national security outlay came as somewhat of a surprise. Advance indications had been that military spending and foreign policy planning would be left for discussion mainly at another meeting scheduled Jan. 5 with both Democratic and GOP leaders.

The administration's general legislative program is up for review, with advance hints that it may include some controversial civil rights proposals.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty announced shortly after the start of today's session that it would deal primarily with the administration's domestic program, including a budget expected to call for spending of about 80 billion dollars. But Hagerty said it would be impossible to divorce national security from the rest of the program in any discussion.

Hagerty recalled that Eisenhower invited the Democratic leaders to sit in with the Republicans for a talk on foreign policy and defense spending plans at about this time.

The Democrats, he said, prefer to hold the two-party conference Jan. 5, just two days before the heavily Democratic new Congress convenes.

Underscoring efforts to rebuild Republican prestige and voter appeal, GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn sat in on today's meeting at Eisenhower's request.

Also on hand were Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson, Dep. Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles, Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter, and Budget Director Maurice Stans.

Also on hand was Dr. Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

Vice President Richard M.

Free Access Key Part Of Agreement

NATO Conferees Turn To Disputes Within Own Ranks

PARIS (AP)—Reassured that the Western Big Three will stand fast against Soviet pressure on West Berlin, the North Atlantic Allies turned today to critical disputes within the alliance.

The agreement Sunday on Berlin by the foreign ministers of Britain, France and the United States led off a week of formal conferences vital to Western Europe's future.

A communique said the Big Three foreign ministers "reaffirmed the determination of their governments to maintain their position and their rights with respect to Berlin, including the right of free access."

The statement rejected the Soviet proposal to give the East German Communist regime control of Allied traffic with West Berlin. In effect, the ministers ruled out suggestions that the West deal with the East Germans as agents of the Russians.

The three ministers — U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd — gave no indication of what counterproposals they would make in reply to the Soviet note of Nov. 27.

But they said they were agreed on the basic issues to be covered in their replies. They said they would consult with the other NATO allies in the NATO Council meeting beginning Tuesday and then would formulate their notes to the Soviets.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev in the Soviet note said the Soviets were withdrawing from the four-power occupation of Berlin. He proposed that West Berlin, 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain, be made a demilitarized free city. The Russians said regardless of what was worked out for West Berlin, they were giving the East Germans control of all communications within the city in six months.

The Western refusal to deal with the East Germans apparently left no alternative but force to insure access to the city if the Russians go ahead with the transfer of communication controls. The Russians have said they would constitute aggression against East Germany and that Soviet troops would go to the satellite regime's aid in accordance with the Warsaw Pact.

West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano joined in the later half of the three-hour conference at the Foreign Office. West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt also spent half an hour in the meeting, giving his views to the foreign ministers. Dulles told him

Residential Districts To Escape Citations For 90-Day Period

Police were ordered Sunday not to tag motorists parked against the free flow of traffic in residential areas after the administration received new complaints on tickets issued Saturday night and early Sunday.

Signed by Chief Americo Radeschi and approved by Safety-Service Director Dan Maggianetti, the order will amend a city ordinance for a 90-day period to exclude the residential areas.

The ban on parking against the flow of traffic in the business section will remain in effect, the order provides. It defines the business section as the area bounded on the north by 9th St., south by 2nd St., east by College St. and west by Jefferson St.

Maggianetti said the warning tickets were introduced last week so police could warn motorists they were violating a city ordinance.

The instructions to the department point out that Section 470 of the city code will be amended for 90 days to exclude the residential area but to include the business section.

The section reads: "No vehicle shall be stopped or parked on a road or highway with the vehicle facing in a direction other than the direction of travel on that side of the road or highway."

The order amending the law for the three-month period points out the police chief with the approval of the director is empowered to make and enforce temporary regulations covering emergencies for a period not to exceed 90 days.

HONG KONG (AP) — American turncoat Richard G. Corden of East Providence, R.I., is reported ready to go home after nearly five years voluntary exile in Red China.

Red Cross sources said Corden, 31, who was the ringleader of the 21 Korean War turncoats, was expected to arrive at the Hong Kong border Friday.

The U.S. consulate general and the Hong Kong government said they had no official confirmation of the report.

Defense Need Taken Up By GOP Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower gave general budget problems and defense spending top priority at a conference today with Republican congressional leaders.

The emphasis on national security outlay came as somewhat of a surprise. Advance indications had been that military spending and foreign policy planning would be left for discussion mainly at another meeting scheduled Jan. 5 with both Democratic and GOP leaders.

The administration's general legislative program is up for review, with advance hints that it may include some controversial civil rights proposals.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty announced shortly after the start of today's session that it would deal primarily with the administration's domestic program, including a budget expected to call for spending of about 80 billion dollars. But Hagerty said it would be impossible to divorce national security from the rest of the program in any discussion.

Hagerty recalled that Eisenhower invited the Democratic leaders to sit in with the Republicans for a talk on foreign policy and defense spending plans at about this time.

The Democrats, he said, prefer to hold the two-party conference Jan. 5, just two days before the heavily Democratic new Congress convenes.

Underscoring efforts to rebuild Republican prestige and voter appeal, GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn sat in on today's meeting at Eisenhower's request.

Also on hand were Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson, Dep. Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles, Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter, and Budget Director Maurice Stans.

Also on hand was Dr. Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

Vice President Richard M.

NATO Conferees Turn To Disputes Within Own Ranks

PARIS (AP)—Reassured that the Western Big Three will stand fast against Soviet pressure on West Berlin, the North Atlantic Allies turned today to critical disputes within the alliance.

The agreement Sunday on Berlin by the foreign ministers of Britain, France and the United States led off a week of formal conferences vital to Western Europe's future.

A communique said the Big Three foreign ministers "reaffirmed the determination of their governments to maintain their position and their rights with respect to Berlin, including the right of free access."

The statement rejected the Soviet proposal to give the East German Communist regime control of Allied traffic with West Berlin. In effect, the ministers ruled out suggestions that the West deal with the East Germans as agents of the Russians.

The three ministers — U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd — gave no indication of what counterproposals they would make in reply to the Soviet note of Nov. 27.

But they said they were agreed on the basic issues to be covered in their replies. They said they would consult with the other NATO allies in the NATO Council meeting beginning Tuesday and then would formulate their notes to the Soviets.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev in the Soviet note said the Soviets were withdrawing from the four-power occupation of Berlin. He proposed that West Berlin, 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain, be made a demilitarized free city. The Russians said regardless of what was worked out for West Berlin, they were giving the East Germans control of all communications within the city in six months.

The Western refusal to deal with the East Germans apparently left no alternative but force to insure access to the city if the Russians go ahead with the transfer of communication controls. The Russians have said they would constitute aggression against East Germany and that Soviet troops would go to the satellite regime's aid in accordance with the Warsaw Pact.

West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano joined in the later half of the three-hour conference at the Foreign Office. West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt also spent half an hour in the meeting, giving his views to the foreign ministers. Dulles told him

More Snow Flurries Due Tonight, Tuesday

More snow flurries are scheduled tonight and Tuesday in Eastern Ohio, with a heavier fall near Lake Erie, the weatherman said today.

Occasional snow flurries also were forecast for today, with a high temperature of 18. A light snow fell last night and early today, slicking some rural roads, but main highways were clear.

Dam 8 at Newell recorded a low reading of 4 degrees Sunday morning and a high of 27 yesterday afternoon. The overnight low of 9 degrees was recorded at 6 this morning.

after the meeting, "You don't need to be worried."

Today the Allies turned to trade and economic policy with a meeting of the 17-nation Organization for European Economic Cooperation. The OEEC includes all European members of the Atlantic Pact plus such neutral countries as Sweden, Switzerland and Austria.

The French recently rejected a British proposal to associate all 17 OEEC members in a free trade area. The British still are bitter over the French action, and their officials say that reprisals may have to be taken to defend the British economy. The Scandinavians and some other nations are saying the same.

Other items to be taken up during the meetings this week include:

1. France's determination for a bigger voice in the Atlantic Alliance.

2. Continental hesitation to accept American nuclear rocket bases.

3. The dangerous situation in Cyprus.

4. The fishing war in the North Atlantic, involving Icelandic and British ships.

Akron Milk Producers Move For Injunction

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Akron Milk Producers, Inc., asked the Ohio Supreme Court today for an injunction against attempts to induce members to leave the agricultural co-operative.

Cancer Drive Mapped

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—American Cancer Society representatives from 10 states meet here today to prepare for next April's fund-raising campaign. One subject to be discussed is the establishment of an unlimited goal instead of a specific dollar target. "You can't fix a dollar ceiling on the lives of some 450,000 men, women and children who develop cancer each year," a society spokesman said.

Yule Event Staged By Midland Choir

About 300 attended the public Christmas program Sunday at Lincoln High School in Midland presented by the school's 80-member choir under the direction of C. Lloyd Deffenbaugh, music supervisor.

Highlights of the program included the processional and recessional candlelight march of choir members. There were about 40 speaking parts.

The program will be presented Wednesday for high school students. The choir will sing carols in the high school halls Friday from 1:30 p. m. to 2:10 p. m. prior to dismissal for the Christmas vacation.

The "Choraliers," a group of 16 choir members, will sing carols Thursday afternoon at First St. and Seventh St. Schools.

The Most Sensible Thing On Earth

In the Saturday Evening Post, Sumner Slichter arrives at the well reasoned conclusion that business, labor and government are now in a three-way contest for power.

But in his newspaper column, Victor Riesel, the labor reporter, says there is a move afoot to bring business and labor into an area of agreement by making some of their leading spokesmen better acquainted with one another.

Riesel quotes Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Arizona Republican who survived organized labor opposition in the 1958 election, as being in favor of bringing labor leaders and business leaders together before they exhaust themselves in a political showdown, at the expense of voters who want to be helpful to both.

In a political showdown between two of the three contestants for power, the probable result would be the triumph of the third. Government would take advantage of the preoccupation of businessmen and union executives to tighten its hold on both of them.

This would happen, moreover, through the steady infiltration of unionists and managers into government — the very thing unionists have been doing so successfully through their efficiency in politics that businessmen now are hoping to duplicate organized labor's success.

In effect, organized labor has challenged unorganized management to become organized so the two — labor and management —can fight it out in the back yard of the third contestant for power. Thus, government would be a referee as well as a contestant and could throw its influence to whichever side seemed to be winning.

Going still further into the probable outcome of a showdown between management and labor while government increased its power over both and over the country as a whole, an American voter would be in danger of losing the benefits of the two-party system.

He would be confronted with a choice between extremes, instead of a choice between two similar parties, each trying to represent all elements of opinion. For the long-range preservation of labor's gains and the long-range prospects of business growth, both parties should comprise both the managers of business and the managers of labor. In no other way can they exert maximum influence over the politicians whose technique is to play off one against the other — the classical pattern of power politics.

The most sensible thing on earth, if prejudices could be cooled off, would be a truce in America in the Old World's transplanted war between workers and managers. Contrary to Karl Marx, the conflict between man is not irreconcilable. It never was, and it is susceptible to more mutual agreements on more points today than ever before.

Labor and management have the same interest in productivity, to save jobs for labor and markets for management against the competition of foreign producers. They have the same interest in the intelligent use of mechanization and automation — the same interest in protecting themselves against interference and regulation by politicians.

Both are members of the same production team, whose efforts provide the wealth that gives the United States its high standard of living, after government has subtracted its share. Labor leaders and businessmen thus share a common interest in keeping the government's share from increasing more rapidly than their joint efforts can produce the wherewithal to pay it, with enough left over for their own needs.

Poor befuddled Marx never dreamed there would be a country in which workers would be capitalists and capitalists would be workers. He thought it was their destiny to fight each other to the bitter end, so he and the other parasites of public affairs would be the top dogs.

Ironically, that is exactly what some of the members of the all-American production team are squaring off to do, unless someone stops them in time.

One For The Philadelphia Lawyers

If you are lined up with the wage theorists who think working rates for U.S. labor can be improved without regard to the cost of goods and services, Philadelphia has a problem you can help its lawyers to solve.

A 22-million-dollar bond issue to buy new subway cars was passed by Philadelphia voters. The contract for the cars will be let in the near future. One of the bidders is expected to be a Japanese firm, which has a good chance of underbidding U.S. competitors, including a Philadelphia firm whose employes need the work.

Unless the Philadelphia lawyers who help the city make legal decisions can find a way to exclude the Japanese firm from the open bidding required by law, a case of political dynamite may be detonated. The likeliest loophole, according to The Wall Street Journal's account of the dilemma, is the proviso that contracts must be made to the "lowest responsible bidder." It might be possible to discover that the Japanese firm which is thinking about putting in a bid was not "responsible."

But that would be only a legal way out. The economic problem that had created the legal problem, if it materializes, would not have been solved. That is the problem of how to keep U.S. enterprise from pricing itself out of the market, not only abroad but at home.

Philadelphia lawyers never will solve that one. It is going to require economic statesmanship, the quality that has been visibly lacking in the thinking of men who have not learned yet that high wage rates without jobs are meaningless.

Going-Concern Value

The County Engineers Assn. put its support behind a number of ideas at its convention in Columbus, such as any and all ideas for increasing revenue available for building highways. That is understandable, because county engineers know about the need for highways.

But it would be reassuring if the association had said something about the rising threat to the going-concern value of the automobile as a revenue producer. The threat is rising in Washington and in every state capital.

It is the possibility that revenue-hungry officials will blunder into the point of diminishing returns without realizing what they are doing.

All those itty-bitty foreign cars that are popular in the United States and the smaller domestic cars proving popular here are blunt reminders to Americans that exorbitant taxes on auto fuel, licenses, auto production and auto use in general create a desire to shrink the tax yield as a matter of individual self-preservation.

Europeans didn't invent tiny cars because they disliked big cars but because they couldn't afford to pay the taxes their revenue-raisers kept slapping on the auto industry and its customers.

Labor Day Is Better

The thought many of us give in passing to baseball managers who bow out at the close of a losing season needs to be given now to losing football coaches who have been told to look for new connections.

All things considered, football coaches are more to be thought of in passing than baseball managers. For the managers, Labor Day usually brings the ax, or the premonition of the axing. But for the coaches, the blow falls in time for Christmas. Not many football coaches are farsighted enough to have long-running contracts that pay them for not working—some, but not many.

They are in a precarious business. A halfback pulls a ligament, a lineman breaks a clavicle, a signal caller pulls a rock, and they must bear up under the calumny and effigy-hanging of millions who were promised bread and circuses and will not take character-building as a substitute.

Here and there, a heavenly situation has been created that gives a coach security whether he wins or loses, which is more than baseball has been able to do. But to offset this, there is the grisly certainty that the coach who is going to be severed from his prestige and prerogatives will be severed just before Christmas. It is like shooting Santa Claus in cold blood.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Lo, the poor commuter! He expects little and gets it. His life is a round of depot-lot parking troubles, train delays, changed schedules, fast shaving, swift breakfasts, late dinners and constant worry over this question: "If I am an hour late getting to work and only a half hour late getting home am I breaking even?"

All over the country railroads are crying "Get lost" to the commuter.

ICC member says that in a few years a railroad that carries any passengers will be rare.

A New York commuter is a special breed requiring ability to do the four-minute mile, endure the quickie Grand Central cocktail and become accustomed to the abrupt notice "Everybody off. This train is out of order."

He leaves each morning full of misgivings and gets home at night in worse shape than a combat trooper who has crossed No Man's Land in both directions on a pogo stick.

HIS ANGUISH is now increased by the railroad cry of "Who wants you?" For an encore he settles for his wife's tearful, "Why did we leave the big city and move out into the country? We should of stood in bedlam. It's noisier but not so heartbreaking."

Lackawanna, Lehigh and New Haven roads now threaten to dump commuters soon if they don't get help from federal, state and city governments. Hurrying to the 7:03 the commuter moans:

> Once the railroads dearly loved me—
> For my trade they went quite wild;
> Now it's "Scram" they cry so loudly,
> "You are just a problem child."

IT'S GETTING SO the fireman says to the engineer "There's some commuters ahead. Put on speed and pretend you don't see 'em." Commuter is late to work, late getting home, late realizing he lives too far from his job and late appreciating the fact that the public endures pouring millions of dollars into thruways to steal business from railroads but is slow to shed a tear for the rail lines.

He moved to the suburbs to get life among birds and bees but got the "bird" in higher assessments, higher taxes, flooded cellars and probably a letter from a town manager saying "Thank you for calling your swamped home to my attention. So what?"

But, at that, his plight is no worse than the railroad's. They are in the "When A Feller Needs A Friend" situation. The locomotive whistle is a cry for help.

Canaveral rockets need a device that will give out the message "I'll be back presently" as they leave firing-pad.

They'll Change Their Minds

James Roosevelt Plays A New Role

By Victor Riesel

In a new movie starring gentleman Jim Hoffa you will find Congressman James Roosevelt prominent among the supporting cast of characters.

Victor Riesel

This is a 33-minute "pix" which Variety's critics may not get around to previewing, for it is for the truck trade.

The opus was produced by the Missouri-Kansas Conference of Teamsters. To add real dignity to it, they asked James Roosevelt to say a few well chosen words about what the boys would like to label inquisition by inquiry.

Mr. Roosevelt, a good friend of Hoffa's gray - matter eminence, Harold Gibbons, agreed to get himself sound tracked.

THE CONGRESSMAN'S Washington office reports that Mr. Roosevelt did this in October, just before the political re-election campaign began in his Los Angeles County district.

Twin billing with Jim Hoffa is a matter of taste. Apparently James Roosevelt did not find it distasteful.

If Mr. Roosevelt did not intend to give the impression that he was joining forces with Hoffa in a propaganda assault on a congressional colleague — and one in his own party at that — then Jim Roosevelt learned little from his days at the Goldwyn studios or from his own Globe Productions. Take it in context. It's not what Mr. Roosevelt says, it's where he says it.

Congressional committees should only conduct hearings to obtain information for legislation, he says.

They should not serve as judges and juries of witnesses, Mr. Roosevelt says in the film's concluding sequence. Before that there are scenes starring Gibbons and Hoffa.

THIS IS NOT the first time that James Roosevelt has appeared for the Teamsters. On Jan. 27, 1957, the congressman spoke before the 14th Annual Shop Conference of Gibbons' Local 688 in St. Louis.

His speech is now in our permanent literature as one booklet in what the Teamsters call the "Labor in Mid-America" series. This is published by the St. Louis Joint Council of Teamsters.

Mr. Roosevelt has apparently not lost any of the daring of his Carlson's Raiders Marine days. He is the first national legislator to cooperate publicly with the Teamsters.

Hoffa and company need many such prominent friends badly at this moment. National respectability is the objective of the Teamsters' expensive new public relations drive — of which the film is only one colorful facet.

What makes Mr. Roosevelt's screen adventure even more daring is the fact that he went before the Teamster cameras just before election when he was working closely with the leaders of the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education.

Whether he likes it or not, James Roosevelt and his words will be the walloping argument at many Teamster rallies dedicated to the demise of the McClellan committee.

There are now three master prints of "Trial By Committee," soon to be turned out by the score and shown across the land.

By Richard Spong

U. N. membership for the new African nation of Guinea comes at a time when a Pan-African movement appears definitely on the rise. Guinea received its independence from France when its people voted against the new French Constitution Sept. 28 but its present status remains somewhat confused.

Guinea and Ghana, the newly independent African member of the British Commonwealth, on Nov. 23 announced a provisional agreement to link their states in a "confederation" intended to be the "nucleus of a union of West African states."

Premier Sekou Toure of the Republic of Guinea on the following day invited neighboring countries to join.

ONE PRACTICAL problem that arises in Ghana's Commonwealth status, which places it within the sterling area. Guinea, while no longer in the French Union, remains within the franc system.

For example, in opening a week-long All-African People's Conference in Accra, Dec. 8, Nkrumah declared, "All Africa shall be free in this, our lifetime."

Nkrumah's colleague, Tom Mboya, anti-Communist head of the Kenya Federation of Labor, was equally emphatic, and even blunter: "Even in the Union of South Africa the question is not whether Africans will win. It is how and when."

Nkrumah expressed the hope that the Ghana-Guinea nucleus would evolve into an African union just as the 13 North American colonies grew into the 49 United States. And he hinted of a Soviet threat to Africa, warning: "Do not let us also forget that colonialism and imperialism may come to us yet in a different guise, not necessarily from Europe."

The conference in Africa appeared to be taking the play away from an Asian-African economic conference being held simultaneously in Cairo, engineered by the pro-Soviet Afro-Asian "People's Solidarity" organization.

THIS IN TURN stems from the April 1955 conference at Bandung, Indonesia. Nkrumah is reported to have told intimates he would ignore the Cairo parley inasmuch as President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic had corrupted its principles of non-interference and had intruded Asian and Communist influences into African affairs.

At that, the early news from Cairo was not all bad, from a Western point of view. Ghana was one of 18 nations voting against a Soviet Union effort, Dec. 9, to turn the economic conference into a forum on the cold war.

The conferences tell only part of the story of Africa's political awakening. Seven French African colonies and Madagascar have hoped to become autonomous republics within the French Overseas Community.

The Sudan, Libya, Tunisia, and Morocco are independent and Algeria is fighting for its freedom from France. Other African states are on the move.

And even in the Union of South Africa, a plan reported under consideration by the government, Dec. 9, hints at ultimate emancipation of tribal states.

Down Through The Years

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The Ohio State Bridge Commission informed the Chamber of Commerce that no special rates would be granted for "frequent users" of the Chester bridge.

Mayor Lee Copenhaver and City Auditor Shelton J. Overdorf attended a meeting of the Ohio League of Municipalities in Columbus.

What Of Our Rights?

By James Marlow

10 Amendments Are 167 Years Old

WASHINGTON

The Bill of Rights — the first 10 amendments to the Constitution—went into effect 167 years ago today.

If not only guaranteed certain rights and freedoms but was the cornerstone for amendments added to the Constitution later.

On this anniversary Americans, priding themselves on the principles of their democratic society, can ask themselves individually:

1. Do I really believe in the rights and freedoms—for all men —guaranteed by the Constitution?

2. Or is it only freedom for me I believe in—including freedom to deprive others of it when I disagree with them or dislike them?

Freedom of speech, religion and the press; freedom from being placed on trial twice for the same offense; freedom from being compelled to testify against yourself in a criminal case; the right to trial by jury; the right to confront a witness against you.

Even the framers of the Constitution did not believe in equal freedom for all men living under their democratic society. They put no ban on slavery.

That did not come till later, many decades later, after great changes in American thinking. The same with the right of all Americans — born or naturalized —to vote.

By asking yourself a few questions, you can test your devotion to the principle of equal rights and freedom for all men.

Would you, if you could, deny to any or all other religious groups and sects, and atheists, the right to say or write publicly what they think?

If you are an atheist, would you deny that right to people of religious beliefs?

You cherish the right to vote: Would you deny that same right to some other individual or group —Negroes, for instance—because you dislike them or fear their eventual political power?

You may hate communism but there is no law against being a Communist.

Would you, who prize freedom of the spoken and written word, deny a Communist the right to say in public what he thinks, even though it is critical of the American government?

The Constitution's Fifth Amendment guarantees a man the right to refuse to answer a question which he thinks might incriminate him.

Would you deny a man—any man, ranging from a ganster to a Communist—the use of the Fifth Amendment to avoid saying something which might incriminate him?

All the questions come down to this basic one:

Is any man ever free or secure under his constitutional guarantees if another man can be deprived of them because of mass hysteria, group pressure or things like racial or religious prejudice?

If it happens to one man today, tomorrow it can happen to the man who did it to him, since all that is needed is a change in majorities, emotions or group attitudes.

100 Useless Horses

By Frank Tripp

Have you ever taken inventory of the useless things you own; things that were useless to you when you bought them?

They are under the hoods of our cars, and cost us dearly. We bought them because we had to, if we had a car.

Our fathers, who were willing to earn their comforts, got along without these racing stables. They shifted gears, the hard way. We can shift without effort, automatically, still must have hundreds of idle horses standing by.

In one decade there has developed a senseless prejudice against a simple mechanical principle that can multiply or reduce a car's horsepower and speed almost without limit — gears.

AS A speed-mad, money - drunk generation became soft and shiftless, their cars had to be shiftless too. Needless horsepower has been added to take the place of gears. Gear shifting, though made effortless, became irksome. Drivers became robots and the highway slaughter multiplied.

You can put 500 horsepower under a car's hood and still have nothing, usable within the law, that gears cannot accomplish with 150 horsepower, or less.

All of the necessary power and usable speed would be there; at a sizable reduction in selling price and operating cost.

It wasn't because Americans are too dumb to shift that gear shifting became frowned upon. It's because they're lazy — and dearly love to boast of having the mostest of everything.

So when we got effortless gear shifting and the endless possibilities it offers, builders went right on adding the needless horsepower that makes cars more costly, and more dangerous.

THE SUCKER public must buy a sawmill power plant to run a mixmaster; fuel it, race it around the country, and brag about it. It only has to be wrapped up in a slinky, weasel-like package, with its belly on the ground, and a mortgage on its back.

Someday a smart cookie will come out with the really roomy American car that millions of families are waiting for.

It will have half or less the horsepower of today's cars and do the same tricks; for anyone with the ambition to push a button.

Through gears, automatic and noiseless, it will do anything today's cars do, gracefully and well; could sell for much less and operate far below present costs. Its styling could be anything designers choose; as rakish or conservative as whim demands.

Conceivably it could shift its own gears, as automatically as modern cameras adjust their own lens aperature and shutter speed via the eye of their light meter. The fundamentals exist.

IT COULD even apply its own brakes and control its own speed, with better sense than some drivers. It could refuse to crash another car, run down a pedestrian or plow through a guard rail. It could reduce car tragedies by half.

A dream? Need not be, for it can — and will—be done. What a market awaits it!

Half of the car market is getting fed up on the belly-slammers, with their tail wings spread and all of their room outdoors.

Sensible owners are tired of paying for power and speed that they cannot use, and stay out of jail —or a casket.

When the showoffs get wise, or go broke, the biggest seller will be the car that economically fulfills a family car's basic function — comfortable, sane transportation.

Anybody want one?

Time To Stay Home

By Truman Twill

I have become the reluctant owner of my first snow shovel, and this is a pledge to use the implement with discretion.

It is a departure from a philosophy that has stood up well through all the years I have been a householder — that snow, like leaves, should be let alone because nature has plans in which men should not interfere.

With the exception of its removal from places where it clearly is an obstacle to life and progress, as it most certainly is on main thoroughfares and sidewalks traversed by old ladies and barefoot girls, snow should be allowed to melt in a natural, quiet, unobtrusive way.

Neverthless, experience with the snow problems that arise with automobiles finally has convinced me that I need a snow shovel with me times in the ancient go-devil that carries me to and from work. The go-devil, itself, is a departure from natural law.

There are times when even a patient man equipped with a philosophy of letting leaves, snow and sleeping dogs lie cannot wait for nature to take its course in an automobile. Everything about the operation of an automobile in a snow-dispensing climate is outside of nature's plan.

The Twillery lies one-fifth of a mile off the highway, at the end of a lane that is a miniature Alcan highway in winter, albeit an abbreviated bridle path through the primeval forest in summer.

It features two stretches, each of about 20 yards, that are drift-prone. In both, snow regularly reaches a depth that no automobile can deal with, unless a channel is cut for the wheels.

Moreover, the snow plow that theoretically earns its keep by being able to gouge out a passageway through these obstacles can do its work only when its wheels have been planted on the ground.

Both are members of the same production team, whose efforts provide the wealth that gives the United States its high standard of living, after government has subtracted its share. Labor leaders and businessmen thus share a common interest in keeping the government's share from increasing more rapidly than their joint efforts can produce the wherewithal to pay it, with enough left over for their own needs.

Poor befuddled Marx never dreamed there would be a country in which workers would be capitalists and capitalists would be workers. He thought it was their destiny to fight each other to the bitter end, so he and the other parasites of public affairs would be the top dogs.

Ironically, that is exactly what some of the members of the all-American production team are squaring off to do, unless someone stops them in time.

One For The Philadelphia Lawyers

If you are lined up with the wage theorists who think working rates for U.S. labor can be improved without regard to the cost of goods and services, Philadelphia has a problem you can help its lawyers to solve.

A 22-million-dollar bond issue to buy new subway cars was passed by Philadelphia voters. The contract for the cars will be let in the near future. One of the bidders is expected to be a Japanese firm, which has a good chance of underbidding U.S. competitors, including a Philadelphia firm whose employes need the work.

Unless the Philadelphia lawyers who help the city make legal decisions can find a way to exclude the Japanese firm from the open bidding required by law, a case of political dynamite may be detonated. The likeliest loophole, according to The Wall Street Journal's account of the dilemma, is the proviso that contracts must be made to the "lowest responsible bidder." It might be possible to discover that the Japanese firm which is thinking about putting in a bid was not "responsible."

But that would be only a legal way out. The economic problem that had created the legal problem, if it materializes, would not have been solved. That is the problem of how to keep U.S. enterprise from pricing itself out of the market, not only abroad but at home.

Philadelphia lawyers never will solve that one. It is going to require economic statesmanship, the quality that has been visibly lacking in the thinking of men who have not learned yet that high wage rates without jobs are meaningless.

Going-Concern Value

The County Engineers Assn. put its support behind a number of ideas at its convention in Columbus, such as any and all ideas for increasing revenue available for building highways. That is understandable, because county engineers know about the need for highways.

But it would be reassuring if the association had said something about the rising threat to the going-concern value of the automobile as a revenue producer. The threat is rising in Washington and in every state capital.

It is the possibility that revenue-hungry officials will blunder into the point of diminishing returns without realizing what they are doing.

All those itty-bitty foreign cars that are popular in the United States and the smaller domestic cars proving popular here are blunt reminders to Americans that exorbitant taxes on auto fuel, licenses, auto production and auto use in general create a desire to shrink the tax yield as a matter of individual self-preservation.

Europeans didn't invent tiny cars because they disliked big cars but because they couldn't afford to pay the taxes their revenue-raisers kept slapping on the auto industry and its customers.

Labor Day Is Better

The thought many of us give in passing to baseball managers who bow out at the close of a losing season needs to be given now to losing football coaches who have been told to look for new connections.

All things considered, football coaches are more to be thought of in passing than baseball managers. For the managers, Labor Day usually brings the ax, or the premonition of the axing. But for the coaches, the blow falls in time for Christmas. Not many football coaches are farsighted enough to have long-running contracts that pay them for not working—some, but not many.

They are in a precarious business. A halfback pulls a ligament, a lineman breaks a clavicle, a signal caller pulls a rock, and they must bear up under the calumny and effigy-hanging of millions who were promised bread and circuses and will not take character-building as a substitute.

Here and there, a heavenly situation has been created that gives a coach security whether he wins or loses, which is more than baseball has been able to do. But to offset this, there is the grisly certainty that the coach who is going to be severed from his prestige and prerogatives will be severed just before Christmas. It is like shooting Santa Claus in cold blood.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Lo, the poor commuter! He expects little and gets it. His life is a round of depot-lot parking troubles, train delays, changed schedules, fast shaving, swift breakfasts, late dinners and constant worry over this question: "If I am an hour late getting to work and only a half hour late getting home am I breaking even?"

All over the country railroads are crying "Get lost" to the commuter.

ICC member says that in a few years a railroad that carries any passengers will be rare.

A New York commuter is a special breed requiring ability to do the four-minute mile, endure the quickie Grand Central cocktail and become accustomed to the abrupt notice "Everybody off. This train is out of order."

He leaves each morning full of misgivings and gets home at night in worse shape than a combat trooper who has crossed No Man's Land in both directions on a pogo stick.

HIS ANGUISH is now increased by the railroad cry of "Who wants you?" For an encore he settles for his wife's tearful, "Why did we leave the big city and move out into the country? We should of stood in bedlam. It's noisier but not so heartbreaking."

Lackawanna, Lehigh and New Haven roads now threaten to dump commuters soon if they don't get help from federal, state and city governments. Hurrying to the 7:03 the commuter moans:

> Once the railroads dearly loved me—
> For my trade they went quite wild;
> Now it's "Scram" they cry so loudly,

IT'S GETTING SO the fireman says to the engineer "There's some commuters ahead. Put on speed and pretend you don't see 'em." Commuter is late to work, late getting home, late realizing he lives too far from his job and late appreciating the fact that the public endures pouring millions of dollars into thruways to steal business from railroads but is slow to shed a tear for the rail lines.

He moved to the suburbs to get life among birds and bees but got the "bird" in higher assessments, higher taxes, flooded cellars and probably a letter from a town manager saying "Thank you for calling your swamped home to my attention. So what?"

But, at that, his plight is no worse than the railroad's. They are in the "When A Feller Needs A Friend" situation. The locomotive whistle is a cry for help.

Canaveral rockets need a device that will give out the message "I'll be back presently" as they leave firing-pad.

They'll Change Their Minds

James Roosevelt Plays A New Role

By Victor Riesel

In a new movie starring gentleman Jim Hoffa you will find Congressman James Roosevelt prominent among the supporting cast of characters.

Victor Riesel

Jim Roosevelt, a picture producer of old who was never cast in his own films, plays himself in this "hard sell" celluloid venture called "Trial By Committee."

The committee, of course, is Sen. John McClellan's hardy band of men. The trials are those of Jimmy Hoffa — and somebody ought to give the film editor a gold truck wheel as a prize. For in these glued up clips of the Bob Kennedy crusade, Jim Hoffa looks good.

This is a 33-minute "pix" which Variety's critics may not get around to previewing, for it is for the truck trade.

The opus was produced by the Missouri-Kansas Conference of Teamsters. To add real dignity to it, they asked James Roosevelt to say a few well chosen words about what the boys would like to label inquisition by inquiry.

Mr. Roosevelt, a good friend of Hoffa's gray - matter eminence, Harold Gibbons, agreed to get himself sound tracked.

THE CONGRESSMAN'S Washington office reports that Mr. Roosevelt did this in October, just before the political re-election campaign began in his Los Angeles County district.

Twin billing with Jim Hoffa is a matter of taste. Apparently James Roosevelt did not find it distasteful.

If Mr. Roosevelt did not intend to give the impression that he was joining forces with Hoffa in a propaganda assault on a congressional colleague — and one in his own party at that — then Jim Roosevelt learned little from his days at the Goldwyn studios or from his own Globe Productions. Take it in context. It's not what Mr. Roosevelt says, it's where he says it.

He hits at congressional committees which permit public testimony against individuals without giving the accused the right of cross-examination.

Congressional committees should only conduct hearings to obtain information for legislation, he says.

They should not serve as judges and juries of witnesses, Mr. Roosevelt says in the film's concluding sequence. Before that there are scenes starring Gibbons and Hoffa.

THIS IS NOT the first time that James Roosevelt has appeared for the Teamsters. On Jan. 27, 1957, the congressman spoke before the 14th Annual Shop Conference of Gibbons' Local 688 in St. Louis.

His speech is now in our permanent literature as one booklet in what the Teamsters call the "Labor in Mid-America" series. This is published by the St. Louis Joint Council of Teamsters.

Mr. Roosevelt has apparently not lost any of the daring of his Carlson's Raiders Marine days. He is the first national legislator to cooperate publicly with the Teamsters.

Hoffa and company need many such prominent friends badly at this moment. National respectability is the objective of the Teamsters' expensive new public relations drive — of which the film is only one colorful facet.

What makes Mr. Roosevelt's screen adventure even more daring is the fact that he went before the Teamster cameras just before election when he was working closely with the leaders of the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education.

Whether he likes it or not, James Roosevelt and his words will be the walloping argument at many Teamster rallies dedicated to the demise of the McClellan committee.

There are now three master prints of "Trial By Committee," soon to be turned out by the score and shown across the land.

By Richard Spong

U. N. membership for the new African nation of Guinea comes at a time when a Pan-African movement appears definitely on the rise. Guinea received its independence from France when its people voted against the new French Constitution Sept. 28 but its present status remains somewhat confused.

Guinea and Ghana, the newly independent African member of the British Commonwealth, on Nov. 23 announced a provisional agreement to link their states in a "confederation" intended to be the "nucleus of a union of West African states."

Premier Sekou Toure of the Republic of Guinea on the following day invited neighboring countries to join.

ONE PRACTICAL problem that arises in Ghana's Commonwealth status, which places it within the sterling area. Guinea, while no longer in the French Union, remains within the franc system.

For example, in opening a week-long All-African People's Conference in Accra, Dec. 8, Nkrumah declared, "All Africa shall be free in this, our lifetime."

Nkrumah's colleague, Tom Mboya, anti-Communist head of the Kenya Federation of Labor, was equally emphatic, and even blunter: "Even in the Union of South Africa the question is not whether Africans will win. It is how and when."

Nkrumah expressed the hope that the Ghana-Guinea nucleus would evolve into an African union just as the 13 North American colonies grew into the 49 United States. And he hinted of a Soviet threat to Africa, warning: "Do not let us also forget that colonialism and imperialism may come to us yet in a different guise, not necessarily from Europe."

The conference in Africa appeared to be taking the play away from an Asian-African economic conference being held simultaneously in Cairo, engineered by the pro-Soviet Afro-Asian "People's Solidarity" organization.

THIS IN TURN stems from the April 1955 conference at Bandung, Indonesia. Nkrumah is reported to have told intimates he would ignore the Cairo parley inasmuch as President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic had corrupted its principles of non-interference and had intruded Asian and Communist influences into African affairs.

At that, the early news from Cairo was not all bad, from a Western point of view. Ghana was one of 18 nations voting against a Soviet Union effort, Dec. 9, to turn the economic conference into a forum on the cold war.

The conferences tell only part of the story of Africa's political awakening. Seven French African colonies and Madagascar have hoped to become autonomous republics within the French Overseas Community.

The Sudan, Libya, Tunisia, and Morocco are independent and Algeria is fighting for its freedom from France. Other African states are on the move.

And even in the Union of South Africa, a plan reported under consideration by the government, Dec. 9, hints at ultimate emancipation of tribal states.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Sixteen crippled children who had received hospitalization through efforts of the Rotary Club were guests at a luncheon in the YMCA building.

Petition for a $20 monthly increase for members of the fire department was filed with council.

Children of the East Liverpool public schools made voluntary food contributions for Christmas baskets for the needy to the Salvation Army.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The Ohio State Bridge Commission informed the Chamber of Commerce that no special rates would be granted for "frequent users" of the Chester bridge.

John Eiferd Jr. and William Polk were installed as new worshipful masters of two local Masonic groups — East Liverpool Lodge 681 and Riddle Lodge 315.

A delegation of Columbiana County Grange members traveled by bus to Cleveland to attend the meeting of Ohio State Grange.

Odd Facts

Entr'acte is the French word meaning between acts of a show, otherwise "intermission." But, originally it was called "acttune", meaning audiences could smoke or carry on conversations while an orchestra played soft music.

Only one person has borne the title of Duke of Windsor. It was created for King Edward VIII of England after his abdication.

What Of Our Rights?

By James Marlow

10 Amendments Are 167 Years Old

WASHINGTON

The Bill of Rights — the first 10 amendments to the Constitution—went into effect 167 years ago today.

If not only guaranteed certain rights and freedoms but was the cornerstone for amendments added to the Constitution later.

On this anniversary Americans, priding themselves on the principles of their democratic society, can ask themselves individually:

1. Do I really believe in the rights and freedoms—for all men —guaranteed by the Constitution?

2. Or is it only freedom for me I believe in—including freedom to deprive others of it when I disagree with them or dislike them?

Freedom of speech, religion and the press; freedom from being placed on trial twice for the same offense; freedom from being compelled to testify against yourself in a criminal case; the right to trial by jury; the right to confront a witness against you.

Even the framers of the Constitution did not believe in equal freedom for all men living under their democratic society. They put no ban on slavery.

That did not come till later, many decades later, after great changes in American thinking. The same with the right of all Americans — born or naturalized —to vote.

By asking yourself a few questions, you can test your devotion to the principle of equal rights and freedom for all men.

Say you are a member of a certain religious faith:

Would you, if you could, deny to any or all other religious groups and sects, and atheists, the right to say or write publicly what they think?

If you are an atheist, would you deny that right to people of religious beliefs?

You cherish the right to vote: Would you deny that same right to some other individual or group —Negroes, for instance—because you dislike them or fear their eventual political power?

You may hate communism but there is no law against being a Communist.

Would you, who prize freedom of the spoken and written word, deny a Communist the right to say in public what he thinks, even though it is critical of the American government?

The Constitution's Fifth Amendment guarantees a man the right to refuse to answer a question which he thinks might incriminate him.

Would you deny a man—any man, ranging from a ganster to a Communist—the use of the Fifth Amendment to avoid saying something which might incriminate him?

All the questions come down to this basic one:

Is any man ever free or secure under his constitutional guarantees if another man can be deprived of them because of mass hysteria, group pressure or things like racial or religious prejudice?

If it happens to one man today, tomorrow it can happen to the man who did it to him, since all that is needed is a change in majorities, emotions or group attitudes.

100 Useless Horses

By Frank Tripp

Have you ever taken inventory of the useless things you own; things that were useless to you when you bought them?

They are under the hoods of our cars, and cost us dearly. We bought them because we had to, if we had a car.

Our fathers, who were willing to earn their comforts, got along without these racing stables. They shifted gears, the hard way. We can shift without effort, automatically, still must have hundreds of idle horses standing by.

In one decade there has developed a senseless prejudice against a simple mechanical principle that can multiply or reduce a car's horsepower and speed almost without limit — gears.

AS A speed-mad, money - drunk generation became soft and shiftless, their cars had to be shiftless too. Needless horsepower has been added to take the place of gears. Gear shifting, though made effortless, became irksome. Drivers became robots and the highway slaughter multiplied.

You can put 500 horsepower under a car's hood and still have nothing, usable within the law, that gears cannot accomplish with 150 horsepower, or less.

All of the necessary power and usable speed would be there; at a sizable reduction in selling price and operating cost.

It wasn't because Americans are too dumb to shift that gear shifting became frowned upon. It's because they're lazy — and dearly love to boast of having the mostest of everything.

So when we got effortless gear shifting and the endless possibilities it offers, builders went right on adding the needless horsepower that makes cars more costly, and more dangerous.

THE SUCKER public must buy a sawmill power plant to run a mixmaster; fuel it, race it around the country, and brag about it. It only has to be wrapped up in a slinky, weasel-like package, with its belly on the ground, and a mortgage on its back.

Someday a smart cookie will come out with the really roomy American car that millions of families are waiting for.

It will have half or less the horsepower of today's cars and do the same tricks; for anyone with the ambition to push a button.

Through gears, automatic and noiseless, it will do anything today's cars do, gracefully and well; could sell for much less and operate far below present costs. Its styling could be anything designers choose; as rakish or conservative as whim demands.

Conceivably it could shift its own gears, as automatically as modern cameras adjust their own lens aperature and shutter speed via the eye of their light meter. The fundamentals exist.

IT COULD even apply its own brakes and control its own speed, with better sense than some drivers. It could refuse to crash another car, run down a pedestrian or plow through a guard rail. It could reduce car tragedies by half.

A dream? Need not be, for it can — and will—be done. What a market awaits it!

Half of the car market is getting fed up on the belly-slammers, with their tail wings spread and all of their room outdoors.

Sensible owners are tired of paying for power and speed that they cannot use, and stay out of jail —or a casket.

When the showoffs get wise, or go broke, the biggest seller will be the car that economically fulfills a family car's basic function — comfortable, sane transportation.

Anybody want one?

Time To Stay Home

By Truman Twill

I have become the reluctant owner of my first snow shovel, and this is a pledge to use the implement with discretion.

It is a departure from a philosophy that has stood up well through all the years I have been a householder — that snow, like leaves, should be let alone because nature has plans in which men should not interfere.

With the exception of its removal from places where it clearly is an obstacle to life and progress, as it most certainly is on main thoroughfares and sidewalks traversed by old ladies and barefoot girls, snow should be allowed to melt in a natural, quiet, unobtrusive way.

Neverthless, experience with the snow problems that arise with automobiles finally has convinced me that I need a snow shovel with me times in the ancient go-devil that carries me to and from work. The go-devil, itself, is a departure from natural law.

There are times when even a patient man equipped with a philosophy of letting leaves, snow and sleeping dogs lie cannot wait for nature to take its course in an automobile. Everything about the operation of an automobile in a snow-dispensing climate is outside of nature's plan.

The Twillery lies one-fifth of a mile off the highway, at the end of a lane that is a miniature Alcan highway in winter, albeit an abbreviated bridle path through the primeval forest in summer.

It features two stretches, each of about 20 yards, that are drift-prone. In both, snow regularly reaches a depth that no automobile can deal with, unless a channel is cut for the wheels.

Moreover, the snow plow that theoretically earns its keep by being able to gouge out a passageway through these obstacles can do its work only when its wheels have been planted on the ground.

Hospital Releases Pair

Auto Stuck In Snow Bank, Couple Overcome By Gas

A Wellsville man and a Steubenville area girl were released Sunday from City Hospital, where they were taken early Saturday morning after being overcome by exhaust fumes from an auto.

William L. Shepherd, 25, of 18th St., Wellsville, and Miss Barbara Guthrie, 21, of Wintersville were discovered in Shepherd's car Saturday morning about 7 along the main road in the center of Irondale. They apparently had been in the car for about four hours.

Miss Guthrie was to have been a member of the wedding party of Gene Clark of Wellsville and Miss June Lutton of Irondale Saturday afternoon at the Irondale Methodist Church.

She and Shepherd attended a rehearsal Friday night at the church and then went to visit friends in Wellsville. Shepherd was returning the girl to the Lutton home, where she was to spend the night, when his car slid into a snow bank along the road.

The car, a 1948 sedan, got stuck and Shepherd was unable to get it free. He said he got out of the car to determine how badly the car was stuck and when he got back in, Miss Guthrie was unconscious. He said he attempted to get her out of the car but was overcome by the fumes himself.

The couple was found by Tom Peterson of Irondale who was en route home from work at Cream City. He notified Dr. William Banfield and Constable Perry Hale.

Peterson said the window on the driver's side was open when he found the couple.

Dr. Banfield ordered them taken to the hospital, where oxygen was administered.

Councilmen and the administration received many complaints last week and the renewed complaints yesterday led to the new instructions.

Motorists declared they are unable to get any traction because of snow and ice on the streets when they park uphill with the flow of traffic.

One driver reportedly had his new car damaged last week when it skidded into the curb as he attempted to pull away after parking with the flow of traffic uphill.

By parking downgrade, the drivers claim they are able in most cases to pull away or coast out of parking spaces.

Maggianetti pointed out drivers who park against the flow of traffic do so at their own risk. He urged the motorists to use caution when pulling into a line of traffic.

U.S. Mediator Seeks End To Paper Strikes

Finnegan Formally Joins Negotiations At New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's top mediator formally joins negotiations today in an effort to end the six-day-old newspaper deliverymen's strike that has cut off publication of the city's nine major dailies.

Joseph F. Finnegan, national director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, meets with representatives of the striking Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union and the Publishers Assn. of New York City when contract talks resume.

A publishers' spokesman said the papers would not resume publication until the deliverymen returned to work. The announcement followed an offer from more than 2,000 printers, members of the New York Typographical Union Local 6, to return to work.

Printers at the Daily News plant refused to cross a deliverymen's picket line and the paper was unable to run its Thursday morning editions.

All the papers suspended publication after Thursday editions of the three other morning papers, the Herald Tribune, the Mirror and the Times, were printed.

The afternoon papers are the Journal-American, Post, World-Telegram and Sun, Long Island Daily Press and Long Island Star-Journal.

The union originally asked for a $10 wage-increase package, plus various holiday, sickness and vacation benefits and a 35-hour work week.

The basic wage was $103.82 for a 40-hour week in the contract that expired last Sunday.

The publishers have stuck by their offer of a $7 weekly pay boost spread over two years.

U.S. Bills Ohio Jeweler For $516,115 In Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Internal revenue agents have billed Sydney J. Rudolph, a Lorain, Ohio, jeweler, for $516,115 in claimed back taxes and penalties.

The notice was sent to Rudolph at the Federal Correctional Institute at Milan, Mich. Papers filed at U.S. Tax Court here do not explain this point further.

In appealing the entire amount, Rudolph said the Internal Revenue Service based its claim—for the years 1943 through 1953—on an income of $1,242,452. He called that a fantastic figure.

A large portion of the claim also concerns Rudolph's wife, Madelon, of (2650 Skyline Drive), Lorain, but solely, the papers said, because she and her husband filed a joint return.

Good Wins Out As Gang Does An Aboutface

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The King Cobras, who reformed publicly 10 months ago, have made it stick.

The dinner netted $133.08 to more than repay the grocer. A judge gave them another chance.

"They're making good," said James L. White, executive director of Neighborhood House, Inc., the social service agency that helped them with the public repayment dinner.

"Not one boy has been in trouble with the law since."

The King Cobras gang has been dissolved and the youths have gone separate ways.

The answer, says White, was "redirection."

"Everyone has weaknesses—but he has strengths too. What we have done is built on their strengths."

Two of the boys organized a dance band. Several others made athletic teams at their schools. Another has been elected to his school's student council.

Eastern Two-Thirds Of U.S. Still Remains In Grip Of Cold

By The Associated Press

December's spell of severe cold weather still clutched the Eastern two-thirds of the nation today. There appeared little or no general relief immediately.

The steady stream of arctic air from Canada kept pushing into the midlands and spreading south and eastward, dipping into the Gulf region. Adding to the unseasonable cold was heavy snow throughout the area, even in sections of the Southeast.

The cold and snow has plagued the Midwest for more than a week, but winter doesn't officially start until next Monday.

Chicago, like other Midwest cities, has had zero or below zero temperatures six times since the start of the cold wave. It was—7 early today, with lower marks in suburban areas.

The coldest weather was confined to the upper and middle Mississippi Valley and western sections of the Great Lakes region. Temperatures were mostly below zero and as low as 10 to 15 below in many places.

It was zero as far south as Fayetteville, Ark., as the icy air knifed into the South.

It was warmer in parts of northwestern Montana than in sections of Alabama and Louisiana. The mercury reached 35 degrees at Cut Bank and Great Falls, Mont. At the same time it was 29 at Mobile, Ala., and 33 at New Orleans.

Temperatures again dipped far below freezing in the Carolinas and to freezing and lower through Georgia and northern Florida.

ENOUGH FOR ALL

The Salvation Army has used Christmas kettles for more than sixty years. It is believed that the kettles — originally soup kettles — were first used to secure funds to feed survivors of a disastrous shipwreck on the rocky coast near San Francisco in 1894. When the food ran out, a lassie picked up a kettle and on a busy corner, set up a sign, "Keep the Kettle Boiling" — and that night there was soup enough for all.

As the shipwreck occured just before Christmas, the kettle quickly became a symbol of The Salvation Army Christmas Appeal.

In this manner, the Army has always tried to "devise" ways and means to cope with the extenuating circumstances of fellow beings in need.

Nixon joined Eisenhower and members of the White House staff for presentation of the administration program.

Discussion dealt first with general budget problems. It was scheduled to turn next to national security programs and the task of providing funds, against the background of the President's campaign to reduce over-all spending.

The conference was expected to continue throughout the day.

Chief interest among the GOP congressional leaders centered on how successful the President has been in efforts to hold down his budget for the next fiscal year in the face of mountain military outlays and an anticipated deficit of about 12 billion dollars this year.

Federal spending during this fiscal year is estimated at about $79,200,000,000, with about 41 billion of that going for defense.

Eisenhower has made the budget one of the top issues of the approaching Congress, with its increased Democratic majorities. He did so with his postelection criticism of Democratic "spenders" he said were elected because the voters were apathetic on this issue.

GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn sharpened the issue with a weekend statement listing proposals made by the Democratic Advisory Council, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the AFL-CIO and Americans for Democratic Action. Alcorn said these would boost the budget to more than 100 billion dollars if enacted.

"The Democrats have wasted no time in confirming the Republican campaign statement that an avalanche of spending proposals would follow if the radical wing of the party succeeded in electing its many candidates," Alcorn said.

On the other hand, Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said his party had received in the election "a clear and unmistakable mandate for positive and progressive action to put America once again on the road to progress and expansion."

Hippocrates, the ancient Greek physician known as "The Father of Medicine," is credited as having been the first ophthalmologist. For the treatment of eye diseases, he recommended restricted diet and hot foot baths.

Undated Ohio Fatalities

By The Associated Press

Until Sunday, all but one of the accidental deaths recorded in The Associated Press' weekend survey were the result of traffic. The exception was a Martins Ferry man burned to death as fire destroyed his home.

A drowning, an accidental shooting and a fatal fall were the other non-traffic deaths, all occuring Sunday.

The first death of the weekend, shortly after the regular weekend survey began at 6 p.m. Friday, was the result of a good deed. A motorist who was helping to get another car out of a ditch was crushed to death between the ditched car and a wrecker.

About a third of the fatal accidents involved young people. A 6-year-old boy who drowned Sunday was the youngest. The oldest was an 88-year-old Lakewood man hit by a car Saturday.

In all, 15 persons died. No multiple-fatal accidents were noted.

The fatalities:

Friday night

Walter A. Dixon, 45, Champion (Trumbull County), crushed between a car he was helping to free from a ditch and a wrecker. Another car hit the wrecker in the accident near Champion.

Saturday

Ralph Wardlow, 21, Middletown, thrown from a car that rolled over and struck by another car in Middletown.

William J. Welsh III, 17, Hamilton, when he apparently drove through a stop sign and hit a tractor-trailer truck at the intersection of Coles Road and U. S. 25 east of Middletown.

Herbert Aikman III, 14, Celina, injured Friday night when the car he was in went off a curve in Ohio 29 east of Celina. He died Saturday.

Mrs. Isabelle Adams, 45, Columbus, when a freight train hit her car at a Columbus crossing.

William B. Van Sickle, 88, Lakewood, thrown through the windshield of a car that struck him in that suburban Cleveland community.

Stanley Boyd, 38, Akron, hit by a car as he was pouring gas into the tank of his stalled car.

Edna Keller, 68, Alliance, when the driver of a car in which she was riding apparently failed to heed a stop sign and crashed into a truck at the intersection of Ohio 44 and 173.

Sunday

Richard D. Pratt, 31, of Rt. 1, Cecil (Paulding County), when his car went out of control on a Paulding County road and hit a culvert.

Michael O'Dowd, 17, Hamilton, injured Saturday when he fell from a station wagon while delivering newspapers. He died Sunday.

Calvary Methodist Yule Program Set

A religion drama, "A Legend of the Christmas," by Mattie B. Shannon, will be presented at the Calvary Methodist Church by the Senior MYF group Thurday at 8:45 p. m.

The cast will include Ray Gaskill, Sondra Horger, Lois Horger, John Weber, Susan Heath, Sonja Buckley, Marilyn Smith, Jim Brant, Buz Bartlett, Sandy Matheny, Donna Sheppard and Linda Weber.

The play is under the direction of the MYF counselors, Mr. and Mrs. James Cross and Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Grafton.

The public is invited. A free-will offering will be taken to be used towards the group's two projects —the Elyria Methodist Home and the Malayan Youth Fund.

are Funeral Costs based on Ability to Pay ?

• The answer to that question is—no! When you consult us about funeral service, one of the first things you will find is that all our funeral prices are plainly marked.

The policy of pricing in plain figures is your definite assurance that the same service is available to every client at the same price.

You will find, too, that our prices are moderate for really comprehensive funeral counsel, offered in a complete establishment which fully meets the high requirements of our membership in National Selected Morticians. We invite your questions.

Three other accidents were reported over the weekend, with two being blamed on slippery streets, police said.

An hour later, a crash at Lisbon and Sanford Sts. damaged autos driven by Thomas C. Zook, 48, of Montana Ave. and Sherman W. Greathouse, 37, of Park Pl., LaCroft, police reported.

Zook was making a left turn onto Sanford St. when struck by the Greathouse car.

The other skidding mishap occurred Saturday morning on W. 6th St. when a Holtz Transportation Co. bus slid into a parked car owned by Dorman DeLauder, 24, of Youngstown.

Is There A Santa Claus?

Should you teach your children to believe in Santa Claus? You must decide for yourself according to your convictions. My own parents told us early there was no Santa Claus. They said they didn't wish to deceive us and that to pretend as if there were a real Santa Claus would be morally and religiously wrong. As my playmates believed in Santa Claus, however, I did, too, though I gave up the notion earlier than most children do, I think.

By Garry Meyers

WHEN MRS. MYERS and I had our own children we agreed to pretend there was a real Santa Claus while they were little. Santa Claus seemed to us then, and still does, to fit the imagination of the child under five or six.

We also agreed that as soon as each child wanted to know if Santa Claus is a real person we would reply: "No, we have just been playing that he is," and would go on so pretending as long as the child wished.

Each of our three children in turn chose to give up Santa Claus at or before the age of six. Yet each was eager to have us pretend there was a Santa Claus for the next younger until he raised doubts of his own.

We asked each child in turn, when he was around nine or ten, if he felt we had done him moral harm concerning Santa Claus. Each assured us we had not but had afforded him a world of good fun. Each said then he was going to have Santa Claus for his children. Each one now a parent—we have a total of 13 grandchildren — has done so and the outcome has seemed good.

I DO BELIEVE children whose parents, relatives, neighbors or teachers try to force Santa Claus on them after 6 or 7 or after they really have outgrown the myth can be harmed.

A teacher, however, may be put in a diffcult position on this point. She would be wise, I think, when a child asks her if there is a Santa Claus, to suggest he ask his parents this question or to confer with the parents before answering him herself.

There can be also the delicate matter of one's neighbors who try to make their children believe in Santa Claus unduly late. Having helped your child clear up the matter for himself, it might be well to prevail on him not to try to disillusion a playmate.

I don't have much faith in explaining Santa Claus as a spirit, contrary to the famous editorial, "Yes Virginia, There Is A Santa Claus." When a little child asks about Santa Claus he doesn't want a philosophical answer; he wants to know if Santa is a real person, like himself, who walks and talks and sees and eats and sleeps.

Students Plan Benefit Dance

Midland Event Due After Cage Game

The Midland Hi-Spot Youth Center will open Tuesday, Dec. 23, at 6:30 p. m. in order that members may check their food items for a Christmas benefit dance to be held after the Lincoln High School basketball game that evening.

Each member and guest will take a food item as admission for the dance which may be checked at the center prior to the game, Mrs. William Spisak, director, said.

A ticket will be given when food is checked for admission to the dance later. Registration will be held when food is checked.

Mrs. Spisak said food collected will be combined with meat products of three other organizations which will distribute the food on Dec. 24 to needy families in Midland.

Reservations for the center's New Year's Eve Frolic began Saturday night. A WOHI disc jockey and his guests will provide entertainment.

There will be tables for couples and for boys and girls going "stag." The center will be open next Saturday night since Midland plays away the previous night.

Son Is Held In Strangling Of His Mother

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—A 35-year-old chiropractor who appears unconcerned about it all faces a first degree murder charge today in the strangling of his mother.

The charge against Charles Arthur Stockham, a Portsmouth chiropractor, will be filed in Municipal Court sometime today, the county prosecutor says.

It was Stockham who called the sheriff's office Saturday night to report his mother's death, and deputies found him in her rural home at Slocum Station when they arrived.

A preliminary medical study indicates the victim, Mrs. Lucy Stockham, 66, died because the blood was shut off from her brain, authorities say.

Stockham told of becoming angry when his mother committed his father James, 65, a retired postal worker, to Portsmouth Receiving Hospital for mental illness, deputies said. He and his mother each threatened to have the other committed also, deputies added, and he strangled her when she taunted him.

When Stockham's son, Danny, 9, entered the room and asked what he was doing, deputies said Stockham replied he was putting the youngster's grandmother to sleep forever. Stockham is separated from his wife.

In Scioto County Jail, he has been reading magazines and evincing little concern about what is happening, deputies said.

Police Warnings On Buses Defied By Negro Pastor

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A Negro minister defied police warnings Sunday and urged Negroes to boycott segregated Birmingham buses.

The Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth told his congregation: "You sin when you yield to the bus company's sin of segregation. I call upon you to use passive resistance to defeat this evil."

He was one of 20 Negro ministers who had said they would use their Sunday sermons to denounce Birmingham's bus segregation law. Apparently most of them used some variation of this topic.

No one was arrested although Police Commissioner Eugene Conner warned recently that anyone, "white or black," leading an attempt to boycott Birmingham buses would be jailed.

Shuttlesworth was recently convicted of violating the city's bus seating law and sentenced to 90 days in jail and a $100 fine. He has filed an appeal. Twelve other Negroes also were convicted and received suspended sentences.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: My husband quit a perfectly wonderful job to open a TV and radio repair shop in our home. This has been going on four months and it's making a wreck out of me.

The first thing he did was hang a neon sign on the front porch saying, "TV and Radios Repaired Cheap."

Our once-lovely home looks like a hardware store. The sign blinks at night and keeps me up. He has painted the house red and white to "attract attention." Our 21-year-old daughter moved out.

People come and call at all hours. I have no privacy. The fuses blow out all over the house constantly because of his testing.

It's terrible having him under my feet 24 hours a day. He wants me to serve him snacks and beer like a king.

His boss has called five times and begged him to go back to his job but he says he likes being "on his own."

In the meantime, he's not making a living. He works 12 hours a day and there's no profit. His supplies and helper cost more than he takes in.

Dear Vy: Give him a choice. Either he goes back to his job so the family can return to normal living or he can have the squirrel cage (complete with blinking neon sign) all to himself.

The situation as you describe it makes no sense.

Living Dollar

Dear Ann: I'm a gentleman in the middle 50s but I don't look my age. I'm part owner of a successful luggage shop and while I am not rich, I could make some woman very comfortable.

Last year I got interested in a lady who sells greeting cards. She installed a department in our shop and we became good friends. Being thrown together daily, we naturally saw a lot of each other.

I loaned her money to get a divorce. It wasn't voiced but I assumed we would be married.

This lady is 28 years old and has a couple of young gentleman friends who pick her up at the store.

When I inquire as to her intention she tells me not to push her. I let her use my car whenever she wants it and I bought her a fur cape for her birthday.

The palmist I've been consulting has been very encouraging. She said if I'm patient I will win. What do you think?—DUFF.

The palmist will continue to be encouraging — so long as your money holds out. And I suspect the 28-year-old greeting card lady is also aware of your liquid assets.

This "lady" is young enough to be your daughter. Get acquainted with someone in your own generation and stop being a sap, Dad.

Sad But True

Dear Ann: How many times must a person pay for one crime? Will you please say a word about parolees?

I was once an employe for the state. I got into trouble and had to serve time. Now I am out on parole because of good behavior and no one will hire me.

I've passed five tests but in each instance my fees have been returned and I've been notified that my name has been scratched off the list of applicants.

I must make a living and I want to do it the honest way. How can I when society wants no part of a man with a record?

Must I return to a life of crime in order to feed my family?

I would appreciate a word from you on this subject. And so would thousands of others who are fighting this same battle. — ON TRIAL FOREVER.

It requires compassion and understanding to hire a person with a prison record but hundreds of employers have done so and profited handsomely.

It's easy to step on a man when he's down. Helping him to regain self respect and personal dignity is a tremendous service. The Greatest Teacher of All said we should forgive seven times 700. It is not asking too much than an employer forgive once.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Ferro Safety Director Will Address Rotarians

Russell W. Frank, director of safety for the Ferro Corp. of Cleveland, will be guest speaker at the noon luncheon of the Rotary Club Tuesday at the Travelers Hotel.

A member and past general chairman of the Glass and Ceramic Section of the National Safety Council, he will present the safety program of the Industrial Commission of Ohio in a 20-minute talk entitled "Your Safety Line for '59."

Bootleg Whisky Ring Bared By Gun Death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A shotgun blast that killed a man on an East Side street has apparently blown a bootleg whisky operation wide open.

The moonshine turned up as detectives investigated the fatal shooting of 29-year-old Henry Hutchens Sunday. They arrested another Columbus man, Hutchens' 25-year-old brother-in-law, Asa Cole. In his rooming house, they found five bottles of bootleg whisky.

Arresting Cole's father, Jeff, 45, detectives said they uncovered at least 90 more bottles. He admitted buying the corn liquor "somewhere south of Washington Court House," they added.

The younger Cole said he shot Hutchens after an argument over Cole's treatment of his sister, Hutchens' wife, police reported.

Police Warnings On Buses Defied By Negro Pastor

The Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth told his congregation: "You sin when you yield to the bus company's sin of segregation. I call upon you to use passive resistance to defeat this evil."

He was one of 20 Negro ministers who had said they would use their Sunday sermons to denounce Birmingham's bus segregation law. Apparently most of them used some variation of this topic.

No one was arrested although Police Commissioner Eugene Conner warned recently that anyone, "white or black," leading an attempt to boycott Birmingham buses would be jailed.

Shuttlesworth was recently convicted of violating the city's bus seating law and sentenced to 90 days in jail and a $100 fine. He has filed an appeal. Twelve other Negroes also were convicted and received suspended sentences.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: My husband quit a perfectly wonderful job to open a TV and radio repair shop in our home. This has been going on four months and it's making a wreck out of me.

The first thing he did was hang a neon sign on the front porch saying, "TV and Radios Repaired Cheap."

Our once-lovely home looks like a hardware store. The sign blinks at night and keeps me up. He has painted the house red and white to "attract attention." Our 21-year-old daughter moved out.

People come and call at all hours. I have no privacy. The fuses blow out all over the house constantly because of his testing.

It's terrible having him under my feet 24 hours a day. He wants me to serve him snacks and beer like a king.

His boss has called five times and begged him to go back to his job but he says he likes being "on his own."

In the meantime, he's not making a living. He works 12 hours a day and there's no profit. His supplies and helper cost more than he takes in.

Dear Vy: Give him a choice. Either he goes back to his job so the family can return to normal living or he can have the squirrel cage (complete with blinking neon sign) all to himself.

The situation as you describe it makes no sense.

Living Dollar

Dear Ann: I'm a gentleman in the middle 50s but I don't look my age. I'm part owner of a successful luggage shop and while I am not rich, I could make some woman an very comfortable.

Last year I got interested in a lady who sells greeting cards. She installed a department in our shop and we became good friends. Being thrown together daily, we naturally saw a lot of each other.

I loaned her money to get a divorce. It wasn't voiced but I assumed we would be married.

This lady is 28 years old and has a couple of young gentleman friends who pick her up at the store.

When I inquire as to her intention she tells me not to push her. I let her use my car whenever she wants it and I bought her a fur cape for her birthday.

The palmist I've been consulting has been very encouraging. She said if I'm patient I will win. What do you think?—DUFF.

The palmist will continue to be encouraging — so long as your money holds out. And I suspect the 28-year-old greeting card lady is also aware of your liquid assets.

This "lady" is young enough to be your daughter. Get acquainted with someone in your own generation and stop being a sap, Dad.

Sad But True

Dear Ann: How many times must a person pay for one crime? Will you please say a word about parolees?

I was once an employe for the state. I got into trouble and had to serve time. Now I am out on parole because of good behavior and no one will hire me.

I've passed five tests but in each instance my fees have been returned and I've been notified that my name has been scratched off the list of applicants.

I must make a living and I want to do it the honest way. How can I when society wants no part of a man with a record?

Must I return to a life of crime in order to feed my family?

I would appreciate a word from you on this subject. And so would thousands of others who are fighting this same battle. — ON TRIAL FOREVER.

It requires compassion and understanding to hire a person with a prison record but hundreds of employers have done so and profited handsomely.

It's easy to step on a man when he's down. Helping him to regain self respect and personal dignity is a tremendous service. The Greatest Teacher of All said we should forgive seven times 700. It is not asking too much than an employer forgive once.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Anxious Eyes On Profits

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — There are some anxious eyes on business profits today in Wall Street.

The stock market always sensitive to corporate earnings, is more so just now because the bulls have bid up prices to a point that will call for a steep climb in net income after taxes by many firms before their profits are in line with the optimism the bulls have underwritten.

The profit trend is on the upgrade at year end after a sharp drop in the first months of 1958. What Wall Street is scanning the reports to find is the strength of the trend and the chances of its continuing.

First of the annual profit and loss reports are coming in now from those companies whose fiscal year ends before the calendar year. Added to these are a flock of estimates by corporate executives of what 1958 earnings should be when the books are finally closed in coming weeks. And there are the many hopeful ones who are saying: just wait until next year.

From the early reports Wall Street is getting a hint at least as how 1958 profits will stack up with 1957's after all the annual reports are in a couple of months from now.

Some 56 corporations already have reported for their fiscal years. Of these 25 show gains in net income over the figures for the previous year, while 31 show declines. There are three reporting net losses this year, while the year before there were two.

Combined the 56 made $182,686,639, compared with $171,320,254 in the previous year, for an increase of 6.6 per cent.

But the results are weighted heavily by striking gains this year by two of the 56 companies.

American Motors reports profits of 26 million dollars this year, against a loss the year before of 11¾ million dollars.

And Minute Maid Corp. puts profits this year 4½ million dollars, while reporting a loss of 2½ million dollars the previous year. In both cases carryover tax credits sweeten the 1958 showings.

The other 54 companies by themselves would have shown combined profits off 17 per cent from the previous year.

Predictions from businessmen whose firms will close their books on New Year's Eve also show a mixed trend.

Railroads as a class are chalking up this year as a poor year. But the picture brightens as you go west. The Western roads are profitably moving bumper crops and Western business was hit only a glancing blow by the recession.

Expecting better earnings this year than last are such roads as Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Illinois Central. Declining net income is predicted by the Louisville & Nashville and the Norfolk & Western.

Religious Center At Kent State Hit By $20,000 Blaze

Smoke awakened Mrs. Hazel Glesenjamp, housemother and only occupant of the building, when the fire started about 6:10 a. m. Sunday. She got out before the roof collapsed.

Fire Chief Fred Miller said defective wiring in a basement supply room started the blaze which did an estimated $20,000 damage to the student religious center.

Firemen worked nearly six hours to keep the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings.

$50,000 Blaze Damages Boat

Fire Hits Prosperity At Pittsburgh Docks

The towboat Prosperity, a familiar sight on the Ohio River at East Liverpool, was damaged by a $50,000 fire Sunday while moored in the Allegheny River at Pittsburgh.

The pilot house and engine room of the little Diesel sternwheeler were damaged heavily in the fire, which broke out about noon. Three fire companies and a Pittsburgh fire boat prevented the flames from reaching the fuel tank, which contained 1,200 gallons of Diesel oil.

The towboat is used in this area as a hauler for the Iron City Sand & Gravel Co.

The fire was discovered by Charles Zubik of Millvale, father of Harry Zubik, also of Millvale, the boat's owner. The elder Zubik was on his way to church.

The Prosperity was built in 1933. The loss estimate included damage to the engine.

The committee announced three women will be selected to serve with the group, one from each of the three participating townships —Brighton, Ohio and Industry.

$50,000 Blaze Damages Boat

Fire Hits Prosperity At Pittsburgh Docks

The towboat Prosperity, a familiar sight on the Ohio River at East Liverpool, was damaged by a $50,000 fire Sunday while moored in the Allegheny River at Pittsburgh.

The pilot house and engine room of the little Diesel sternwheeler were damaged heavily in the fire, which broke out about noon. Three fire companies and a Pittsburgh fire boat prevented the flames from reaching the fuel tank, which contained 1,200 gallons of Diesel oil.

The fire was discovered by Charles Zubik of Millvale, father of Harry Zubik, also of Millvale, the boat's owner. The elder Zubik was on his way to church.

Group Seeking Doctor Eyes January Meeting

A special meeting will be called sometime in January by the Western Beaver County Doctor's Committee, when J. L. Rineman of Harrisburg, a representative of the Pennsylvania State Medical Association, will give information regarding methods of procuring a physician for the area.

Harry Davis of Industry Township has been authorized to request the attendance of a member of the Beaver County Medical Association. Charles Crawford of South Beaver Township will arrange a dinner for the guests and committee members.

The committee announced three women will be selected to serve with the group, one from each of the three participating townships —Brighton, Ohio and Industry.

'Kingfish' Claimed At 70, But Comedy Will Live On

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Harry R. (Tim) Moore, 70-year-old Kingfish of the Amos'n Andy television series, will be buried next Saturday.

He died Saturday of tuberculosis.

But, as colleague Freeman Gosden put it, "his comedy will carry on."

Moore joined Gosden and Charles Correll when they converted from radio to TV. Gosden played both Amos and Kingfish in the original radio series.

The veteran Negro actor had been a jockey and professional boxer. His last camera appearance was in 1953. Recently he had been a master of ceremonies at a Los Angeles nightclub.

Moore, at the age of 12, left his native Rock Island, Ill., to join a vaudeville troupe. He played in "Blackbirds of '28" on Broadway and went through Europe with the show. He returned to the U.S. in the late 30s and toured with a comedy act accompanying name bands.

Last March Moore and his second wife, Vivian, almost parted in a domestic battle over a roast beef he said Vivian's relatives had eaten. He was jailed for firing a gun—then let off with a suspended $100 fine.

He tried retiring once, only to return at 58 to become the Kingfish.

After his spat with Vivian, Moore remarked:

"A man who's got three score years and 10 behind him ought to retire. And that's just what I'm going to do."

Soviets Set Up Station In Remote Antarctica

Deep in Antarctica, the pole is 600 miles toward the Indian Ocean from the geographic South Pole. The Pole of Inaccessibility was named as the spot regarded by explorers as the most difficult to reach overland.

Man With Hip In Cast Pulled To Safety In Fire

The rescuer was Mrs. Mary Ann Turocy, 42, who pulled her father, Steve Barkai, out of his flaming bed, through a hall, the dining room and the living room to safety on the front porch. She had been awakened by her mother's screams.

Mrs. Turocy then went back and led her mother, Mrs. Julia Barkai, 82, out of the smoke-filled house.

Painting Plaster Still Takes Care

By The Associated Press

Veteran professional painters will remember the time when it was necessary to wait from six months to two years to begin the painting of plastered walls and ceilings.

Improved paints and plaster materials have cut this waiting period considerably. Yet trouble still lies ahead for the painter who ignores certain tell - tale signs indicating that the plaster either is not ready for painting or is in need of special preparatory treatment.

The large amounts of water used in making plaster must evaporate before any painting is done. Under normal conditions, when the temperature is not below 50 degrees and when the relative humidity is not high, plaster will dry in three to four weeks.

BUT PLASTER applied to an unfurred wall, brick, tile or similar structural material will take considerably longer to dry, since the solid wall prevents evaporation from the back of the paster.

In such cases, where there is any doubt about the condition of the paster, a moisture meter is the best device to check the progress of the drying.

There are certain imperfections that might show up in one or two areas of a wall which otherwise has dried properly.

One of these is known as a "sweat-out," the other as a "dry-out." In both events, soft areas are present, accompanied by dampness in the case of a "sweat-out," dryness in the case of a "dry-out." Their causes are opposite.

A "sweat-out" comes from excessive moisture and slow drying. A "dry-out" is due to the vaporation of the water in the paster before the gypsum has crystallized. A mild "sweat-out" can be corrected with a coat of shellac or lacquer, which serves as a hardening agent.

But when the condition is severe, there is no choice except to remove the affected area and replaster. A "dry-out" can be fixed by spraying the softened section with an alum and water solution, repeating the dose if necessary.

SOMETIMES a plastered wall will have a spotty appearance, with some areas seeming to be "dead."

This condition, usually caused when the finish trowelling was not uniform, will result in an uneven gloss and color in the paint. An oil-type primer-sealer will prepare the wall for painting.

If the plaster is uniformly dull, it should be examined for chalk which shows up as a white powder on the hand or a cloth rubbed over the wall.

This can be removed by vigorous rubbing before painting. When tiny crystals or efflorescence are found, they should be brushed off repeatedly until no more form. Since these crystal do not form instantly, painting should be delayed after the brushing to be sure additional efflorescence does not occur.

When conditions are satisfactory, any standard interior wall finish can be used; i.e., a prime coat, followed by the decorative top coat. But if the drying has not been completed — and it is essential that the paint be applied without further waiting — latex paints are a good choice, having good adhesion to damp surfaces and being relatively immune to alkali.

A good way to do this is to apply one coat of the latex paint, which will take away the unfinished look of the plaster yet continue to allow water evaporation to take place. Then, at a later time, a second coat will add the necessary depth and durability.

Police Probe Turns To Man In Slaying Of Five On Coast

EL CAJON, Calif. (AP)—A man who has blamed a transient teenager for the slaying of his wife and four children was himself the subject of extensive police questioning Sunday.

O'Connor declined to discuss the tests, conducted during seven hours of questioning of Pendergast, other than to say: "His story is consistent. But we feel we've made progress by the polygraphic (lie detector) examinations."

Investigators said Pendergast was asked specifically for more details about his connection with Carl Eder, the missing teen-ager whom Pendergast has said he befriended in the hope of saving him from a life of crime.

Eder, 16, known to the Pendergast family as Charles Harrison, has been formally charged with murdering Lois Pendergast, 37, and her children, David, 9; Thomas, 6; Diane, 4; and Allen, 2. The bodies were found in the family home here Friday night.

The mother had been shot twice and the children's throats slashed and the skulls of two of them were fractured.

Search for the 6-foot teen-ager from the Rochester, N.Y., suburb of Irondequoit, has been unrewarding thus far.

Pendergast, a pipefitter, said he had no hatred in his heart for the youthful hitchhiker he had picked up and taken into his home six weeks ago.

Five Quake Areas Are Listed In U.S.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Are you on shaky ground?

It could be. A leading seismologist's earthquake risk map of the United States lists five areas in the nation where earth shakes could seriously damage well-constructed buildings.

Dr. Charles F. Richter of the California Institute of Technology lists the areas with this word of caution: Ground conditions vary greatly even in given cities.

Northwestern New England and New Mexico and southwest Texas.

Richter said his map should be taken "as representing a long-term risk to be considered for structures intended to be permanent — or in long-term planning such as developing new townsites or industrial centers."

'Kingfish' Claimed At 70, But Comedy Will Live On

He died Saturday of tuberculosis.

But, as colleague Freeman Gosden put it, "his comedy will carry on."

Moore joined Gosden and Charles Correll when they converted from radio to TV. Gosden played both Amos and Kingfish in the original radio series.

The veteran Negro actor had been a jockey and professional boxer. His last camera appearance was in 1953. Recently he had been a master of ceremonies at a Los Angeles nightclub.

Moore, at the age of 12, left his native Rock Island, Ill., to join a vaudeville troupe. He played in "Blackbirds of '28" on Broadway and went through Europe with the show. He returned to the U.S. in the late 30s and toured with a comedy act accompanying name bands.

Last March Moore and his second wife, Vivian, almost parted in a domestic battle over a roast beef he said Vivian's relatives had eaten. He was jailed for firing a gun—then let off with a suspended $100 fine.

He tried retiring once, only to return at 58 to become the Kingfish.

After his spat with Vivian, Moore remarked:

"A man who's got three score years and 10 behind him ought to retire. And that's just what I'm going to do."

Soviets Set Up Station In Remote Antarctica

Deep in Antarctica, the pole is 600 miles toward the Indian Ocean from the geographic South Pole. The Pole of Inaccessibility was named as the spot regarded by explorers as the most difficult to reach overland.

The rescuer was Mrs. Mary Ann Turocy, 42, who pulled her father, Steve Barkai, out of his flaming bed, through a hall, the dining room and the living room to safety on the front porch. She had been awakened by her mother's screams.

Mrs. Turocy then went back and led her mother, Mrs. Julia Barkai, 82, out of the smoke-filled house.

Painting Plaster Still Takes Care

By The Associated Press

Veteran professional painters will remember the time when it was necessary to wait from six months to two years to begin the painting of plastered walls and ceilings.

Improved paints and plaster materials have cut this waiting period considerably. Yet trouble still lies ahead for the painter who ignores certain tell - tale signs indicating that the plaster either is not ready for painting or is in need of special preparatory treatment.

The large amounts of water used in making plaster must evaporate before any painting is done. Under normal conditions, when the temperature is not below 50 degrees and when the relative humidity is not high, plaster will dry in three to four weeks.

BUT PLASTER applied to an unfurred wall, brick, tile or similar structural material will take considerably longer to dry, since the solid wall prevents evaporation from the back of the paster.

In such cases, where there is any doubt about the condition of the paster, a moisture meter is the best device to check the progress of the drying.

There are certain imperfections that might show up in one or two areas of a wall which otherwise has dried properly.

One of these is known as a "sweat-out," the other as a "dry-out." In both events, soft areas are present, accompanied by dampness in the case of a "sweat-out," dryness in the case of a "dry-out." Their causes are opposite.

A "sweat-out" comes from excessive moisture and slow drying. A "dry-out" is due to the vaporation of the water in the paster before the gypsum has crystallized. A mild "sweat-out" can be corrected with a coat of shellac or lacquer, which serves as a hardening agent.

But when the condition is severe, there is no choice except to remove the affected area and replaster. A "dry-out" can be fixed by spraying the softened section with an alum and water solution, repeating the dose if necessary.

SOMETIMES a plastered wall will have a spotty appearance, with some areas seeming to be "dead."

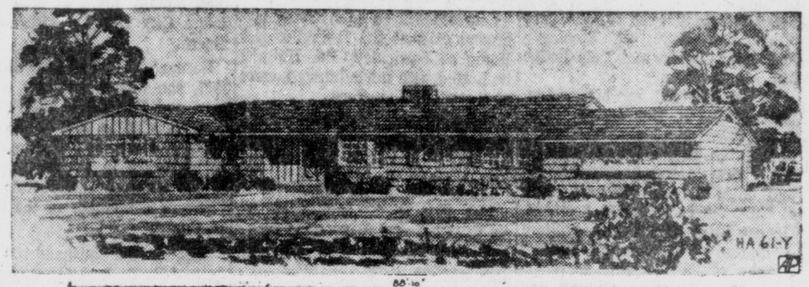
This condition, usually caused when the finish trowelling was not uniform, will result in an uneven gloss and color in the paint. An oil-type primer-sealer will prepare the wall for painting.

If the plaster is uniformly dull, it should be examined for chalk which shows up as a white powder on the hand or a cloth rubbed over the wall.

This can be removed by vigorous rubbing before painting. When tiny crystals or efflorescence are found, they should be brushed off repeatedly until no more form. Since these crystal do not form instantly, painting should be delayed after the brushing to be sure additional efflorescence does not occur.

When conditions are satisfactory, any standard interior wall finish can be used; i.e., a prime coat, followed by the decorative top coat. But if the drying has not been completed — and it is essential that the paint be applied without further waiting — latex paints are a good choice, having good adhesion to damp surfaces and being relatively immune to alkali.

A good way to do this is to apply one coat of the latex paint, which will take away the unfinished look of the plaster yet continue to allow water evaporation to take place. Then, at a later time, a second coat will add the necessary depth and durability.



THIS ONE-STORY RANCH offers both an interesting exterior and luxurious space inside. There are seven rooms, including a family room one step lower than the remainder of the house. This family room is separated from the kitchen by only an iron railing, making one huge area out of dinette, kitchen and family room. The plan is HA61-Y, by Architect Herman H. York, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, N. Y. It has 1,583 sq. ft. of habitable area, with 207 square feet in the family room and 471 in the garage.

Police Probe Turns To Man In Slaying Of Five On Coast

EL CAJON, Calif. (AP)—A man who has blamed a transient teenager for the slaying of his wife and four children was himself the subject of extensive police questioning Sunday.

O'Connor declined to discuss the tests, conducted during seven hours of questioning of Pendergast, other than to say: "His story is consistent. But we feel we've made progress by the polygraphic (lie detector) examinations."

Investigators said Pendergast was asked specifically for more details about his connection with Carl Eder, the missing teen-ager whom Pendergast has said he befriended in the hope of saving him from a life of crime.

Eder, 16, known to the Pendergast family as Charles Harrison, has been formally charged with murdering Lois Pendergast, 37, and her children, David, 9; Thomas, 6; Diane, 4; and Allen, 2. The bodies were found in the family home here Friday night.

The mother had been shot twice and the children's throats slashed and the skulls of two of them were fractured.

Search for the 6-foot teen-ager from the Rochester, N.Y., suburb of Irondequoit, has been unrewarding thus far.

Pendergast, a pipefitter, said he had no hatred in his heart for the youthful hitchhiker he had picked up and taken into his home six weeks ago.

Five Quake Areas Are Listed In U.S.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Are you on shaky ground?

It could be. A leading selsmologist's earthquake risk map of the United States lists five areas in the nation where earth shakes could seriously damage well-constructed buildings.

Dr. Charles F. Richter of the California Institute of Technology lists the areas with this word of caution: Ground conditions vary greatly even in given cities.

Northwestern New England and New Mexico and southwest Texas.

Richter said his map should be taken "as representing a long-term risk to be considered for structures intended to be permanent — or in long-term planning such as developing new townsites or industrial centers."

Steel Making Strong Pitch

Seeks To Close Out Year On Bright Note

CLEVELAND (AP)—The steel industry is making a strong pitch to close out the year on a bright note.

Steel magazine reported today that production reached its highest point of the year—75.5 per cent of rated capacity—last week. The publication forecast next week should be about the same. The increase was a hike of one point and production was estimated at 2,038,000 net tons.

Ten of the 12 steelmaking districts reported higher rates or operations at the same level last week. This included Cincinnati, up 4.5 points to 86 per cent of rated capacity: Wheeling, up half a point to 83.5; Cleveland, up 3.5 points to 73.5; Pittsburgh, up 5 points to 72; and Youngstown, no change at 60. Detroit dropped 3 points to 97.

A survey by the magazine showed about one-third of U.S. metalworking plants will expand in 1959. Of those, 10 per cent will build new plants, 35 per cent will make additions, and 70 per cent will buy new equipment.

Plant operation capacity will be increased 2.6 per cent, the publication said.

"The major appliance industry is approaching 1959 with cautious optimism," Steel said. "Industry leaders anticipate a 5 to 10 per cent increase over 1958 sales, but price cutting on the retail level and low profit margins are worrying appliance executives."

A recent Supreme Court decision involving natural gas companies should bring about increased orders for shipments of line pipe, the magazine said.

"Manufacturers of drill pipe, tubing, and casing hope the revival of interest in pipeline programs also will mean better busines for them." it added.

The metalworking weekly's price composite on the prime grade of steelmaking scrap dropped again for the fourth straight week. Down 50 cents, it now stands at $39.17 a ton.

Court Fight Holds Fate Of Pittsburgh Pigeons

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)— Are racing pigeons essential as Army reservists subject to immediate recall or are they dirty birds and undesirable in a city?

The Pittsburgh chapter of the American Racing Pigeon Union says racing pigeons are essential members of a community, especially since the Army has disbanded its own pigeon corps.

But Judge Benjamin Lencher has upheld municipal rulings that the birds are pests and undesirable. His ruling requires a Pittsburgh man to get rid of his flock of racing pigeons by Dec. 31.

The pigeon union says it will ask Pennsylvania Superior Court to settle the question.

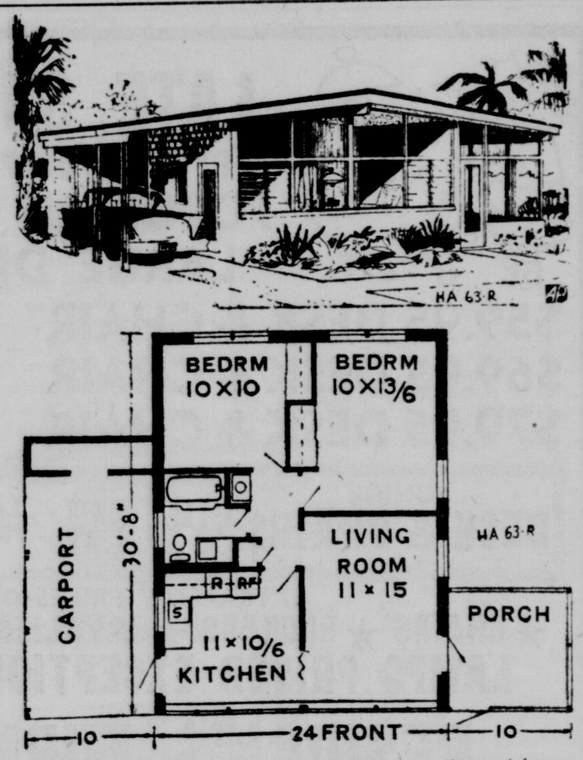
They admitted stealing the chassis; a motor from a lawn mower to power it; and lumber and paint to make the body.

The youths argued they should be repaid for their time and effort in working on the racer. Nothing doing, said deputies.

Big Family Reunion

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (AP) — More than 1,500 members of the Staples clan gathered here for their first reunion in 33 years. The group, estimated at 6,000 in Canada, comprises descendants of Richard Staples who emigrated from Ireland in 1818.



THIS SMALL AIRY home was designed as a retirement house. Built on a slab, it provides five rooms on one level. High ceilings and the jalousie window-wall make the rooms look and feel far larger than they actually are. It's HA63-R by Architect Jan Reiner, PO Box 96, New Port Richey, Fla., and covers only 738 square feet.

New Waterproofing Methods Will Keep Your Cellars Dry

One of the worst problems there is in connection with houses is water in the basement or cellar.

There are so many complaints about this condition and it is so well known nationally, that the house with a wet condition beneath it is very hard to sell and almost impossible to rent.

Some years ago there was not much that could be done to correct a wet cellar except dig down around the foundations and waterproof the walls from the footings up.

In many cases this did not work, in spite of the heavy expense involved, because it is simply impossible to get under the cellar floor and waterproof that as well. Things have changed, however, and there are now several waterproofers that can be used on the foundation walls on the inside, and on the floor as well.

These interior waterproofers all work on more or less of the same theory. There is a very penetrating carrier or liquid in which there is a fine substance which expands after the carrier has taken it into the masonry.

This substance expands when wet and plugs up the pores or microscopic holes in concrete and cement blocks. Once it has expanded it does not shrink again, with the net result that the masonry to which it is applied becomes very dense and waterproof.

Some cellars which litterally oozed water through every pore have been made as tight as a drum with one or the other of these compounds.

On the other hand, there are cellars where the same material had been used and the results were poor, but in every one of these cases the instructions for the use of the material had not been followed.

You cannot apply any good waterproofer over a coat of whitewash or paint and expect it to work. You might just as well try to paint a house while it is raining.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I easily clean an enameled gas stove?

A. One of the best cleaners for white or colored enameled gas stoves is a light coat of past wax. Allow the wax to set for a few minutes, then polish. A fine gloss will be the result when cleaning a waxed stove if a damp cloth is wiped over it, then rubbed with a dry, soft cloth.

Q. How can I prevent falling of the hair?

A. Try rubbing a cut lemon into the roots of the hair, then wash in warm, soft water. This is claimed to prevent falling of the hair, and also to strengthen it.

Q. How can I prevent the fermentation of jams?

A. By adding a small piece of sulphate of potash to the boiling syrup or jams.

Simple Cure Lowers Chance Of Slipping On Porch Steps

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

According to the insurance companies reports and other sources of information about household accidents, the slippery condition of the steps leading into a house is responsible for many a broken leg, hip, arm and ankle.

In most cases these accidents happen on wood steps and not on brick, because brick is rough and it takes quite a buildup of ice or slush to make them slippery. On the other hand, a well - painted wood step is a bad piece of footing during freezing and icy spells of weather.

No less an authority than the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association has come up with a very sensible and economical solution for the condition, and it makes most excellent sense. The procedure is as follows:

The next time you paint your front or kitchen door steps have a pail of good, clean, white sand on hand. As soon as you have finished spreading the paint, put some sand in a small can or cardboard box which has a small hole in it, and sprinkle the sand in uniformly over the fresh paint.

The granules will sink into the paint by themselves and as the paint hardens they will be well embedded. A second coat after the first has thoroughly set will produce a good buildup of non-slippery surfacing. Under ordinary use and wear this type of safety tread should last through two or three seasons. And it does not change the color of the paint in any respect.

Another suggestion has been made which provides for mixing the sand in the paint before it is used.

In many cases this did not work, in spite of the heavy expense involved, because it is simply impossible to get under the cellar floor and waterproof that as well. Things have changed, however, and there are now several waterproofers that can be used on the foundation walls on the inside, and on the floor as well.

These interior waterproofers all work on more or less of the same theory. There is a very penetrating carrier or liquid in which there is a fine substance which expands after the carrier has taken it into the masonry.

This substance expands when wet and plugs up the pores or microscopic holes in concrete and cement blocks. Once it has expanded it does not shrink again, with the net result that the masonry to which it is applied becomes very dense and waterproof.

Some cellars which litterally oozed water through every pore have been made as tight as a drum with one or the other of these compounds.

On the other hand, there are cellars where the same material had been used and the results were poor, but in every one of these cases the instructions for the use of the material had not been followed.

You cannot apply any good waterproofer over a coat of whitewash or paint and expect it to work. You might just as well try to paint a house while it is raining.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I easily clean an enameled gas stove?

A. One of the best cleaners for white or colored enameled gas stoves is a light coat of past wax. Allow the wax to set for a few minutes, then polish. A fine gloss will be the result when cleaning a waxed stove if a damp cloth is wiped over it, then rubbed with a dry, soft cloth.

Q. How can I prevent falling of the hair?

A. Try rubbing a cut lemon into the roots of the hair, then wash in warm, soft water. This is claimed to prevent falling of the hair, and also to strengthen it.

Q. How can I prevent the fermentation of jams?

A. By adding a small piece of sulphate of potash to the boiling syrup or jams.

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

According to the insurance companies reports and other sources of information about household accidents, the slippery condition of the steps leading into a house is responsible for many a broken leg, hip, arm and ankle.

In most cases these accidents happen on wood steps and not on brick, because brick is rough and it takes quite a buildup of ice or slush to make them slippery. On the other hand, a well - painted wood step is a bad piece of footing during freezing and icy spells of weather.

No less an authority than the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association has come up with a very sensible and economical solution for the condition, and it makes most excellent sense. The procedure is as follows:

The next time you paint your front or kitchen door steps have a pail of good, clean, white sand on hand. As soon as you have finished spreading the paint, put some sand in a small can or cardboard box which has a small hole in it, and sprinkle the sand in uniformly over the fresh paint.

The granules will sink into the paint by themselves and as the paint hardens they will be well embedded. A second coat after the first has thoroughly set will produce a good buildup of non-slippery surfacing. Under ordinary use and wear this type of safety tread should last through two or three seasons. And it does not change the color of the paint in any respect.

Another suggestion has been made which provides for mixing the sand in the paint before it is used.

Two U.S. Archbishops In Group

23 Are Raised To Rank Of Cardinal

By FRANK BRUTTO

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today formally elevated the archbishops of Philadelphia and Boston and 21 other Roman Catholic prelates to the rank of cardinal.

Twenty-three of the 51 other princes of the church, meeting in secret consistory at the Vatican, gave their silent assent to the Pope's action, confirming the choices he had announced Nov. 17.

The pontiff, himself crowned supreme ruler of the church only last month, increased the membership of the Sacred College to 74 and gave the world's half-billion members of the church their broadest representation ever in the high senate body.

In his address to the Sacred College telling of his choices, the pontiff called particular attention to the persecution of Catholics by the Communist regime in China. Missionaries have been expelled and many archbishops and bishops, "full of zeal and courage, are in prison, or restricted or impeded in the free exercise of their pastoral ministry," he said.

"The clergy and faithful have become the target of blandishments, menaces, physical and moral tortures," the Pope continued in order to force them "to break the bond of obedience and love which links them with the See of Peter."

"Unfortunately," he went on, "we have to declare with sorrow that there are not wanting some who, fearing the orders of men more than the sacred judgment of God, have so far yielded to the commands of persecutors as to accept sacrilegious episcopal consecration from which no power of jurisdiction can be derived since it was conferred without the mandate of the Holy See."

Pope John asked the Catholic bishops of the world to arrange for "public occasions of prayer and penance" to beseech God to "enlighten the minds of those who are going astray" and to "give strength or will" to all the Catholics of China.

After the consistory, papal messengers went out from the Vatican to notify the new cardinals officially of their elevation.

The two Americans, Richard James Cushing, 63, of Boston, and John F. O'Hara, 70, Philadelphia, received the word at the North American Pontifical College, high on Rome's Janiculum Hill. Also notified with them was Amleto Cicognani, whose elevation ended his 26-year tenure as apostolic delegate to the United States.

The new cardinals will receive their red birettas—square-shaped, close-fitting hats and a symbol of office — at a semipublic consistory in the Vatican Wednesday.

On Thursday will come the climactic public ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica, when the Pope will present the broad-brimmed galeros, the special red hat of the office, to the new princes of the church.

Two of the new cardinals were not in Rome and will not participate in the ceremonies this week. Joseph Bueno y Monreal, archbishop of Seville, will receive his notification and red hat from Generalissimo Francisco Franco, Spanish chief of state. Fernando Cento, papal nuncio to Portugal, will get his from President Americo Tomas in Lisbon. This is by ancient accord between the Vatican and such Catholic states.

In an address in Latin, Pope John said that in increasing the membership of the Sacred College, he had in mind the great and expanding duties of its members. He said he had in mind particularly lightening the burdens of the present cardinal members of the Vatican Curia, the central administration of the church.

The Pope did not say directly whether he intends to increase the size of the college still more in the future, as has been speculated. But he did say that he had in mind many other prelates of the church who had "proved themselves very worthy of this high honor."

The consistory was the first since Jan. 12, 1953, when the late Pius XII created 24 cardinals.

It Was Zero Or Lower Again For Most Of Ohio

By The Associated Press

It's getting to be a mighty tiresome story: Most of Ohio had zero-or-lower readings again this (Monday) morning.

Prospects are for some slight moderation tonight—but only by a few degrees. And light snow probably will be general throughout the state.

Dayton was Ohio's coldest spot today according to the first reports reaching the weather bureau. The Gem City awoke to a minus-7 reading. Columbus had a 4-below and Findlay a 3-below. It was minus 2 at Cincinnati and Toledo, 1 above at Akron and 2 above at Cleveland.

Reformatory Mothers Will Play Santa Claus

CHICAGO (AP) — Santa Claus will bring toys to children of the 51 mothers who are among the inmates at the State Reformatory for Women.

The Salvation Army, for the first time on an experimental basis, has stepped in to help imprisoned mothers play Santa to children 12 and under.

Representatives of the Salvation Army visited the prison at Dwight over the weekend with samples of 14 different toys. Mothers could choose which they wanted, sign the tags and supply addresses of their youngsters. The 51 women have a total of 110 children, from 6 months to 12 years old.

The Army plans to provide the toys, wrap and mail them. No one would know what place they came from.

Dormitory Hit By Fire

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A fire at St. Vincent de Paul Dormitory here did only $500 worth of damage but kept more than 20 dormitory residents out in the frigid weather for half an hour early today. The blaze was blamed on an electric iron that had been placed too close to a wall.

Potters Nip Wellsville, 60-56, With Fourth-Period Rally

Locals Win First Game Of Season

By CHUCK CRONIN

East Liverpool's Potters roared from behind in the dying moments to squeeze by stubborn Wellsville, 60-56, and win their first game of the season Saturday night in a thriller before a near packed house at Memorial Auditorium.

Coach John Karaffa's team, which trailed by as many as 15 points at one stage in the first half, came through with a rousing fourth-quarter surge to recapture the lead and snap a three-game losing streak while also posting their ninth straight over Wellsville.

As usual, the game between the two schools had its individual stars.

SOME 1,000 fans were kept buzzing by the marksmanship of Wellsville's all-Ohio candidate, senior Dan Baldwin, and young sophomore whiz Ken Cunningham, who sparked the Potters in their last-minute rally.

Baldwin, 6-2 forward, sent 31 points through the hoops—more than half of Wellsville's total—in matching the previous high of his career set against Newell last week.

Meanwhile, Cunningham hit for 12 field goals for 24 points. And it was his driving, underhand lay-up with 30 seconds left that put the Potters in front to stay, 57-56, after Wellsville had built up a tremendous lead and threatened to walk away with the victory.

After Cunningham's drive shot had given the Potters a one-point edge, 57-56, junior Glenn Cunningham converted a foul shot with 28 seconds left for a two-point spread, 58-56.

Coach Jack McDevitt's Tigers carried the fight to the final whistle, but got only one shot in the last few seconds, missed, and Potter Jan Allen was fouled as the game ended.

With Baldwin setting a hot pace in the first half when he scored 24 of his points, the Tigers built up a 37-26 lead. They had a 10-point spread after three quarters, 49-39.

However, in the second half, Karaffa double-teamed the Wellsville scoring ace, who is averaging 25.5 a game, and Baldwin got only five points in the third quarter and one basket in the fourth.

With Baldwin shackled by towering Bigelow, 6-5, a scrappy Bob Mackall, Wellsville's offensive assault was slowed considerably and it became only a matter of time before the Potters could overcome the lead and forge ahead.

WELLSVILLE was not only slowed by inaccuracy at the foul stripe—31 per cent—but was hurt badly by personal fouling. The other half of McDevitt's scoring duo—sophomore Bob Kiggans—played most of the second half with four personals and this provided the Potters with an edge in scoring punch.

Kiggans was charged with the fifth at 1:17 left in the game after scoring three goals and three of 11 foul shots for nine points. His rebounding and defensive work helped the Tigers in their first half splurge.

Baldwin also was benched on personals, being charged with the fifth with 28 seconds left in the game after crashing into Glenn Cunningham on an attempted drive shot.

Allen, only letterman on the squad, contributed 16 points on five goals and six of six free throws and was the "balance wheel" of the Potter attack.

BIGELOW, who made the vital tip in the final seconds which tied the game, did so with a badly bruised hand. It was his rebounding, along with that of senior Bob Beatty, that kept the Potters in the game during the torrid second half. Bigelow scored eight points.

Bob Mackall contributed seven points to the Potter attack. Behind him were Glenn Cunningham with three and Beatty with a field goal for two. Beatty fouled out with 2:09 left in the game.

It was the third straight squeaker for East Liverpool. The Potters lost to Alliance, 46-45, and Friday night to Warren, 58-56.

The loss snapped Wellsville's two-game win streak and evened its season record. The Tigers lost the first game to Midland, 55-49, then laced Newell, 69-18, and edged Lisbon 57-53.

Wellsville outscored the Potters in every quarter except the fourth. While Baldwin was being held to a lone field goal, his mates were contributing only five points and the Potters were hitting 21 in a last quarter flurry.

Wellsville suffered a blow early in the first quarter when guard Milton Lamp suffered a head injury and had to leave the game for most of the first half. He finished with two fielders in the second half for four points, matched by Bill DeSarro and Franklin Jackson.

DESARRO, a sophomore, drew first blood for Wellsville with a left-handed push shot following the opening tip. Mackall's hook tied the score at 2-2, but a drive shot by Kiggans put Wellsville in front, 4-2, and the lead was held until the final minutes of the game.

Baldwin scored 12 points in the first quarter, and helped Wellsville post a 20-10 score at the quarter mark by hitting three straight drive shots and a tip.

The second quarter found Wellsville boosting its lead to as much as 15 points, 37-22, with Baldwin dumping them in from angles and Ken Cunningham keeping the Potters in contention with long set shots and an occasional jump shot.

Wellsville had a smooth attack working in the first half, which resulted in heavy fouling by the Potters. Beatty had four personals at halftime and Mackall three.

As the third quarter opened, Ken Cunningham drove to the corner and fired up a jump shot to start the Potters on the way to eventual victory. It was followed by a jump shot by Allen, Cunningham's long set shot and a foul shot by Bigelow which cut the margin to only four points, 37-33.

Cunningham opened the fourth quarter by connecting on two straight long shots, once more narrowing the score 49-43. Bigelow, Allen and Mackall each proceeded to add field goals, while Lamp countered for Wellsville, and the Potters trailed by only two, 51-49, with 3:20 left on the clock.

MACKALL'S drive shot tied the score at 51-51 with two minutes left, but Kiggans hit a jump for the Tigers for another Wellsville lead, 53-51. It was Kiggans' final point as he left the game on personals only seconds later.

Two foul shots by Allen again deadlocked the score at 53-53. Baldwin countered with a jump shot to give Wellsville the lead again, 55-53, and Bigelow's tip again tied the score at 55-55.

In the final minute, Glen Cunningham converted one foul shot and Allen two for insurance points which closed out the scoring.

Si Green's Illness Puzzles Doctors

CINCINNATI (AP)—Pro basketball teams are supposed to cut their rosters to 10 players today, but Cincinnati's Royals can put off the deadline if they want.

Because of the large number of rookies, the National Basketball Assn. last week offered Royal officials more time to complete the move.

The action is complicated by a puzzling illness of rookie Si Green, former Duquesne great, now in Christ Hospital here for tests. Three times this season he has be hit by temporary dizziness and weakness.

The Royals have 12 players now and team officials indicate that at least one of the men to be dropped as player is Tom Marshall, named team player-coach after veteran Bobby Wanzer was fired last month.

And on the newest team member, Johnny McCarthy, NBA rules allow him to play for the Royals for 30 days before he is charged against the roster.

Loss To Virginia Stings WVU Quint

MORGANTOWN (AP) — West Virginia, still stinging from its loss to an unsung Virginia team, looks to the Kentucky Invitational Tourney at Lexington this week as a chance to recover some of its lost basketball prestige.

It was decisive tourney victories over Kentucky and North Carolina about this time last year that gave the WVU Mountaineers the momentum to carry them to a 26-2 record and the final ranking of No. 1 in the Associated Press poll.

WVU will open defense of its tourney title against Oklahoma State and Kentucky will meet Ohio State in first round contests Friday. The two winners and two losers will play in the Saturday windup.

But before heading to Lexington, the Mountaineers will tangle with Richmond here Tuesday in a Southern Conference outing. WVU has had little trouble with home games or conference contests so far this season.

Richmond is 2-1 in the league and 4-2 over-all. One of the Spiders' victories was over Virginia—the team which ambushed WVU, 75-72, at Charleston Saturday night.

The loss gave WVU a 5-1 over-all record. The Mountaineers lead the conference with a 3-0 showing.

WVU Coach Fred Schaus was philosophical about the Virginia game, by saying he thought the team learned a lesson in taking the Cavaliers lightly.

Virginia had dropped four straight games to carry a 1-4 mark against the fourth-ranked Mountaineers. The Cavaliers were considered the doormat of the Atlantic Coast Conference. But they played like anything but doormats while upsetting the heavily favored Mountaineers.

The Cavaliers laid the groundwork for the upset with a brilliant first-half effort, then held on to beat back a WVU rally in the final 20 minutes. Led by Paul Adkins of Branchland, W. Va., Virginia spurted to an 18-point lead against the Mountaineers who made about every conceivable mistake before the intermission. Adkins, who finished with 25 points, connected for 14 in the first half uprising.

But then Jerry West took charge for WVU, and coupling his magnificent defensive play, with a great show of shooting, almost singlehandedly pulled WVU to within one point of the lead midway in the second half. The score was 62-61 but WVU couldn't get over the hump.

Adkins popped in another field goal and the Cavaliers were on their way again.

Schaus paid tribute to Virginia for not cracking at this point. "Virginia has a fine ball club. You have to give them credit. They didn't crack when we came so close to the lead," Schaus said.

West topped the scoring with 31 points — getting 22 of these in the second half. He was the only WVU player to turn in a par performance.

Locals Win First Game Of Season

By CHUCK CRONIN

East Liverpool's Potters roared from behind in the dying moments to squeeze by stubborn Wellsville, 60-56, and win their first game of the season Saturday night in a thriller before a near packed house at Memorial Auditorium.

Coach John Karaffa's team, which trailed by as many as 15 points at one stage in the first half, came through with a rousing fourth-quarter surge to recapture the lead and snap a three-game losing streak while also posting their ninth straight over Wellsville.

As usual, the game between the two schools had its individual stars.

SOME 1,000 fans were kept buzzing by the marksmanship of Wellsville's all-Ohio candidate, senior Dan Baldwin, and young sophomore whiz Ken Cunningham, who sparked the Potters in their last-minute rally.

Baldwin, 6-2 forward, sent 31 points through the hoops—more than half of Wellsville's total—in matching the previous high of his career set against Newell last week.

Meanwhile, Cunningham hit for 12 field goals for 24 points. And it was his driving, underhand layup with 30 seconds left that put the Potters in front to stay, 57-56, after Wellsville had built up a tremendous lead and threatened to walk away with the victory.

A well-timed tip by Potter center Ray Bigelow had given the Blue and White a deadlock, 55-55, with about 50 seconds of playing time remaining.

After Cunningham's drive shot had given the Potters a one-point edge, 57-56, junior Glenn Cunningham converted a foul shot with 28 seconds left for a two-point spread, 58-56.

Coach Jack McDevitt's Tigers carried the fight to the final whistle, but got only one shot in the last few seconds, missed, and Potter Jan Allen was fouled as the game ended.

With Baldwin setting a hot pace in the first half when he scored 24 of his points, the Tigers built up a 37-26 lead. They had a 10-point spread after three quarters, 49-39.

However, in the second half, Karaffa double-teamed the Wellsville scoring ace, who is averaging 25.5 a game, and Baldwin got only five points in the third quarter and one basket in the fourth.

With Baldwin shackled by towering Bigelow, 6-5, a scrappy Bob Mackall, Wellsville's offensive assault was slowed considerably and it became only a matter of time before the Potters could overcome the lead and forge ahead.

WELLSVILLE was not only slowed by inaccuracy at the foul stripe—31 per cent—but was hurt badly by personal fouling. The other half of McDevitt's scoring duo—sophomore Bob Kiggans—played most of the second half with four personals and this provided the Potters with an edge in scoring punch.

Kiggans was charged with the fifth at 1:17 left in the game after scoring three goals and three of 11 foul shots for nine points. His rebounding and defensive work helped the Tigers in their first half splurge.

Baldwin also was benched on personals, being charged with the fifth with 28 seconds left in the game after crashing into Glenn Cunningham on an attempted drive shot.

For the Potters, it was strictly a team victory, with all five starters playing a major part in the outcome.

Allen, only letterman on the squad, contributed 16 points on five goals and six of six free throws and was the "balance wheel" of the Potter attack.

Cunningham's scoring turned the tide in the second half, while his five goals in the first two quarters kept the team from falling clear out of contention.

BIGELOW, who made the vital tip in the final seconds which tied the game, did so with a badly bruised hand. It was his rebounding, along with that of senior Bob Beatty, that kept the Potters in the game during the torrid second half. Bigelow scored eight points.

Bob Mackall contributed seven points to the Potter attack. Behind him were Glenn Cunningham with three and Beatty with a field goal for two. Beatty fouled out with 2:09 left in the game.

It was the third straight squeaker for East Liverpool. The Potters lost to Alliance, 46-45, and Friday night to Warren, 58-56.

The loss snapped Wellsville's two-game win streak and evened its season record. The Tigers lost the first game to Midland, 55-49, then laced Newell, 69-18, and edged Lisbon 57-53.

Wellsville outscored the Potters in every quarter except the fourth. While Baldwin was being held to a lone field goal, his mates were contributing only five points and the Potters were hitting 21 in a last quarter flurry.

The Potters made 25 of 71 shots for 35 per cent, while Wellsville connected on 24 of 64 for 38 per cent.

Wellsville suffered a blow early in the first quarter when guard Milton Lamp suffered a head injury and had to leave the game for most of the first half. He finished with two fielders in the second half for four points, matched by Bill DeSarro and Franklin Jackson.

DESARRO, a sophomore, drew first blood for Wellsville with a left-handed push shot following the opening tip. Mackall's hook tied the score at 2-2, but a drive shot by Kiggans put Wellsville in front, 4-2, and the lead was held until the final minutes of the game.

Baldwin scored 12 points in the first quarter, and helped Wellsville post a 20-10 score at the quarter mark by hitting three straight drive shots and a tip.

The second quarter found Wellsville boosting its lead to as much as 15 points, 37-22, with Baldwin dumping them in from angles and Ken Cunningham keeping the Potters in contention with long set shots and an occasional jump shot.

Wellsville had a smooth attack working in the first half, which resulted in heavy fouling by the Potters. Beatty had four personals at halftime and Mackall three.

As the third quarter opened, Ken Cunningham drove to the corner and fired up a jump shot to start the Potters on the way to eventual victory. It was followed by a jump shot by Allen, Cunningham's long set shot and a foul shot by Bigelow which cut the margin to only four points, 37-33.

Cunningham opened the fourth quarter by connecting on two straight long shots, once more narrowing the score 49-43. Bigelow, Allen and Mackall each proceeded to add field goals, while Lamp countered for Wellsville, and the Potters trailed by only two, 51-49, with 3:20 left on the clock.

MACKALL'S drive shot tied the score at 51-51 with two minutes left, but Kiggans hit a jump for the Tigers for another Wellsville lead, 53-51. It was Kiggans' final point as he left the game on personals only seconds later.

Two foul shots by Allen again deadlocked the score at 53-53. Baldwin countered with a jump shot to give Wellsville the lead again, 55-53, and Bigelow's tip again tied the score at 55-55.

Gray, also a sophomore, converted one of two foul shots with 45 seconds left, putting Wellsville in front, 56-55. This set the stage for Cunningham's clever drive shot which put the Potters in front to stay, 57-56.

Browns To Face Giants Again After 13-10 Defeat Sunday

Two Teams Tied On 49-Yard Kick

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A field goal through the snow by a fellow who wasn't expected to play . . . the keen eyes of a battleworn Texan . . . and what everybody thought was a boner by football's master coach.

They added up today to a bonus for National Football League fans, next Sunday's playoff between the plucky New York Giants and the mighty Cleveland Browns for the Eastern Conference championship.

The two arch rivals tied for the regular season championship with 9-3 records Sunday as Texan Kyle Rote set up a touchdown with 10 minutes left, and hobbled Pat Summerall booted a 49-yard field goal with two minutes remaining to give New York a 13-10 victory. A tie would have given Cleveland the title.

The other NFL clubs have completed their seasons. Baltimore lost 21-12 to San Francisco Sunday.

Los Angeles and the Chicago Bears tied for second in the West with 8-4 marks as the Rams closed out with a 34-20 decision over Green Bay and the Bears defeated the Detroit Lions 21-16. Washington blanked Philadelphia 20-0 in Sunday's other game. Pittsbrugh, No. 3 in the East, finished Saturday with a 38-21 victory over the Chicago Cards.

Leading 10-3 midway in the third period, the Browns drove to the New York 13 behind the great Jimmy Brown—who gained 148 yards in 26 rushes. With fourth down and five to go, Lou (The toe) Groza stepped back to the 20 for his fourth field goal try of the game. He had missed twice, hit once—from the 22.

But instead of kicking, Brown had called for a fake. Bobby Freeman took the snap from center, jumped up and took off around left end. He ran full into Giants' linebacker Harland Svare, who threw him for an eight-yard loss.

After an exchange of kicks and a Milt Plum fumble, the Giants' Frank Gifford fired a 39-yard pass to Rote to the Cleveland 6 on a play Rote called when he spotted a weakness in the Browns' pass defense. A running play lost a yard before Gifford passed to Bob Schnelker in the end zone for a touchdown. Summerall's conversion made it 10-10.

Four minutes later, the Giants drove from their 30 to Cleveland's 25. On fourth down, and with 4½ minutes remaining, Summerall missed a field goal from the 33. It looked as though the comeback had been nailed, but two minutes later the Browns' Dick Deschaine, soundly rushed by the Giants' defense, got off a wobbly 22-yard kick that went out of bounds on the Cleveland 43.

Three passes went awry before Summerall sent his boomng field goal soaring through the snow and over the uprights. Two minutes and seven seconds showed on the clock.

San Francisco made it a fond farewell for retiring Coach Frankie Albert with veteran quarterback Y. A. Tittle engineering three touchdown drives. J. D. Smith bolted for two second half TDs at the end of long 49ers drives.

The Colts only touchdown came on a Johnny Unitas to Jim Mutscheller pass which carried 38 yards late in the final quarter. It was the 29th consecutive game in which Unitas had tossed for a touchdown, padding his NFL record.

Green Bay made it a struggle for the Rams and only a brilliant passing foray by Billy Wade brought Los Angeles the victory. Wade pitched scoring strikes to Del Shofner and Jon Arnett for 43 and 75 yards.

The Bears scored twice in the final quarter against the Lions, who had a 16-7 third period lead. With three minutes remaining, Willie Galimore rambled 36 yards for the clinching TD.

The Eagle shutout, first for Washington since 1955, also boosted the Skins into fourth place in the East. Eddie LeBaron, battling for the league's passing title, unofficially clinched it when he shot a 71-yarder to Bill Anderson for a last quarter score.

The state of Florida figures to derive more than $6 million from horse racing in 1959. That figure has been surpassed the last three years.

Browns Feel Bad Call Cost The Ball Game

NEW YORK (AP)—"There isn't a man in this room who doesn't think Frank Gifford fumbled that ball," Coach Paul E. Brown said in the Cleveland dressing room after Sunday's 13-10 loss to the New York Giants.

"I thought he made the catch, was hit and fumbled it. Just as simple as that," Brown went on.

"The Giants throught he fumbled it, too. Did you see their defensive team? Some of them started out on the field, thinking that Gifford had fumbled and the ball was ours.

"That was the big play, one of the fateful things. They wouldn't have won it otherwise. They would never had the chance to kick that field goal."

The fourth-quarter play Brown meant was a third-down pass starting on the Cleveland 42. Chuck Conerly fired to Gifford who ran into Galen Fiss and dropped the ball, which Walt Michales of the Browns picked up and started to carry toward the New York goal.

After a moment's hesitation head linesman Charley Berry waved an incomplete pass, and on the next and last down Pat Summerall booted the game-winning 49-yard field goal.

Santa and the ELF BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

(Esteban found the bottle of gas with which the professor plans to kill the fairies. But the professor trapped him and opened a trap door beneath him. As Esteban falls he tosses the bottle to the professor to keep it from breaking.)

CHAPTER TEN

Down, down, down went Esteban in a hole that seemed to have no bottom. Faster and faster he went. He thought that when he landed he would surely be crushed.

ESTEBAN shook his head in puzzlement. Could he possibly have gone right through the earth and landed on the other side of the world? But why would people there live in such small houses?

Just then he heard a scraping noise. The scraping grew louder until finally there was a great big thump and a hole was punched right through the wall.

Through the hole bounced a fat little mole with a top hat on his head and a brief case in his paw. Great furry eyebrows hung over his tiny eyes and he wore glasses that were two inches thick.

"Just a minute and we'll be cleaned up here. I'm sorry I wasn't here when you arrived, but I only moved in a few days ago and I've been terribly busy on the new roads, you know. Or perhaps you didn't know. Well, anyway, I'm home now and very glad to see you."

AT THIS he stopped chattering and peered at Esteban through his two inch glasses. "By the way, who are you anyway?"

Esteban took a big breath. "I'm an elf," he began.

"Good gracious!" said the mole. "You're awfully big for an elf. I don't suppose I've ever seen such a big elf."

"Well," explained Esteban. "I'm not an elf anymore. You see, I was an elf but I did everything wrong and made trouble for everyone so the Queen Fairy took away my wings and I'm a boy now. But I'm going to be an elf again if I'm a good boy."

The mole shook his head in wonder at such a story. "But, tell me," he asked, "How did you get into my bedroom?"

"The professor tricked me!" cried Esteban. "Now he has the bottle and I'll never be able to get it again!"

The mole took off his glasses and wearily rubbed his eyes. I wish you'd just start at the beginning and tell me the whole story," he begged.

So Esteban told how Charlotte's mother had been put under a spell by the Hangdog Hag and could never wake again. How Charlotte's father, in order to destroy the witch, had made a gas that would kill not only the Hag but all fairies and elves in the world.

"And I must get to Santa Claus for help," finished Esteban. "But how will I ever get there?"

By and by, he smiled happily and bounced from the chair.

"The Snuke!" he cried.

"What?" said Esteban.

"The Snuke," said the mole. "The Snuke will get you there!"

OSU Cagers To Face Test

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State will be rubbing elbows with some top-ranked basketball teams next weekend when the Buckeyes journey to Lexington for the University of Kentucky Invitational.

Coach Fred Taylor's youthful quintet, fresh from its first victory of the season, will be moving in fast company.

The Buckeyes must tangle with unbeaten Kentucky Friday night in a first round contest. If Ohio survives this skirmish, then its foe Saturday night will be the winner of the West Virginia-Oklahoma State game.

While the schedule ahead appears uninviting, Ohio was feeling better about things today after whipping Butler Saturday, 81-69. Larry Huston hit for 25 points and the Buckeyes shot a rousing .479 from the field to win handily. Earlier losses were to Pitt and St. Louis.

In other action last weekend, Ohio's "Big Three"—Cincinnati, Xavier and Dayton, kept their clean records intact.

The Bearcats, ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press poll, turned back Marshall, 106-86, behind all-America Oscar Robertson's 42-point show. It was Cincinnati's third straight win.

Xavier, last year's NIT titlist, ran its victory skein to four with an 80-58 romp over Detroit as Joe Viviano and Hank Stein combined for 45 points.

In some other big ones, Toledo upset Miami 81-63, to grab first place in the Mid-American Conference; DePaul's late rally nosed out Bowling Green, 73-70; Steubenville copped its 29th straight win trouncing Wilberforce, 97-58; Akron stopped Youngstown's winning streak at three with a 79-66 triumph and Ohio U. remained unbeaten with a 101-83 decision over Southern Illinois.

Ten Buckeye colleges are unbeaten in action with Defiance and Steubenville, both 6-0, leading the pack. Heidelberg, Kenyon, Otterbein, Baldwin-Wallace and Central State have yet to win.

Ohio teams have won 33 and lost 28 in interstate play, having scored 4,503 points against 4,344.

In some top games this week, Miami hosts Marshall Tuesday and Toledo is at home for Western Michigan Wednesday in Mid-American Conference contests; Ohio U. travels to Niagara Thursday; Xavier meets strong Seattle at home Friday.

Saturday, Cincinnati goes to St. Louis for the Missouri Valley Conference opener; Dayton hosts Eastern Kentucky and Miami meets Pitt at Oxford.

Rory Calhoun Battles Jones

CLEVELAND (AP)—When Rory Calhoun battles Ralph (Tiger) Jones in a 10-round middleweight scrap tonight both fighters will be working for a match with a ringside spectator—Carmen Basilio.

Basilio, former welterweight and middleweight champion, has been offered $25,000 to meet the winner of the Calhoun-Jones fight. The offer comes from Cleveland promotor Larry Atkins, who promoted tonight's charity affair sponsored by the Cleveland News toyshop fund for needy children.

"Basilio must fight someone to keep active," Atkins said and added:

"It doesn't look as if Sugar Ray Robinson is interested in fighting. Carmen and his managers said they'd be at ringside tonight to look over Calhoun and Jones."

"In that fight," Jones said, "I thought Calhoun would be coming to me. He didn't."

"I don't know how I'll fight tonight," Jones added, "it depends on Calhoun. I'll probably fight the same kind of fight I did before."

Don Fullmer, West Jordan, Utah vs. Roscoe Shamblin, Youngstown, six rounds, middleweight.

They and Chester Carter and James Daughtery, both of Shreve, were driving to Florida to look for work when the accident happened Saturday.

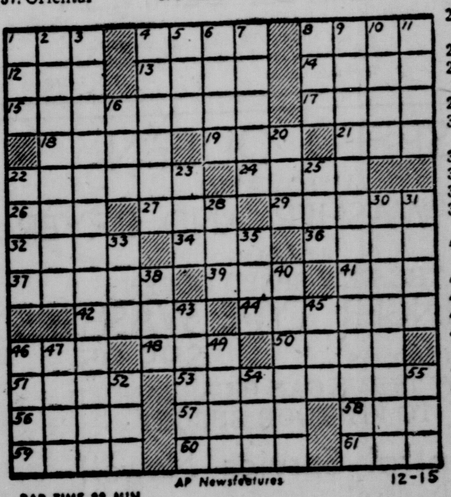
Solution of Saturday's Puzzle



AP Newsfeatures 12-15

PAR TIME 22 MIN.

(Esteban found the bottle of gas with which the professor plans to kill the fairies. But the professor trapped him and opened a trap door beneath him. As Esteban falls he tosses the bottle to the professor to keep it from breaking.)

CHAPTER TEN

Down, down, down went Esteban in a hole that seemed to have no bottom. Faster and faster he went. He thought that when he landed he would surely be crushed.

Suddenly he did land — right on his head! But he wasn't even hurt. For he landed on a bed.

It was a teeny bed with fat, white pillows and a bright red blanket. On a table by the bed stood a tiny lamp glowing brightly.

There was a tiny rocking chair nearby and a wash stand with a tiny wash bowl on it.

On a shelf there were some tiny books. Esteban picked up one of the books. It was caller "Digging for Fun."

ESTEBAN shook his head in puzzlement. Could he possibly have gone right through the earth and landed on the other side of the world? But why would people there live in such small houses?

Just then he heard a scraping noise. The scraping grew louder until finally there was a great big thump and a hole was punched right through the wall.

Through the hole bounced a fat little mole with a top hat on his head and a brief case in his paw. Great furry eyebrows hung over his tiny eyes and he wore glasses that were two inches thick.

He peered at Esteban in astonishment. "Gracious! I didn't expect guests!"

Hastily he took off his hat and began to bustle around the room, straightening the bed and dusting the books.

"Just a minute and we'll be cleaned up here. I'm sorry I wasn't here when you arrived, but I only moved in a few days ago and I've been terribly busy on the new roads, you know. Or perhaps you didn't know. Well, anyway, I'm home now and very glad to see you."

AT THIS he stopped chattering and peered at Esteban through his two inch glasses. "By the way, who are you anyway?"

Esteban took a big breath. "I'm an elf," he began.

Down, down Esteban fell into a strange weeny room.

"Good gracious!" said the mole. "You're awfully big for an elf. I don't suppose I've ever seen such a big elf."

"Well," explained Esteban. "I'm not an elf anymore. You see, I was an elf but I did everything wrong and made trouble for everyone so the Queen Fairy took away my wings and I'm a boy now. But I'm going to be an elf again if I'm a good boy."

The mole shook his head in wonder at such a story. "But, tell me," he asked, "How did you get into my bedroom?"

"The professor tricked me!" cried Esteban. "Now he has the bottle and I'll never be able to get it again!"

The mole took off his glasses and wearily rubbed his eyes. I wish you'd just start at the beginning and tell me the whole story," he begged.

So Esteban told how Charlotte's mother had been put under a spell by the Hangdog Hag and could never wake again. How Charlotte's father, in order to destroy the witch, had made a gas that would kill not only the Hag but all fairies and elves in the world.

"And I must get to Santa Claus for help," finished Esteban. "But how will I ever get there?"

The fat little mole sat in his rocking chair and rocked busily.

By and by, he smiled happily and bounced from the chair.

"The Snuke!" he cried.

"What?" said Esteban.

"The Snuke," said the mole. "The Snuke will get you there!"

OSU Cagers To Face Test

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State will be rubbing elbows with some top-ranked basketball teams next weekend when the Buckeyes journey to Lexington for the University of Kentucky Invitational.

Coach Fred Taylor's youthful quintet, fresh from its first victory of the season, will be moving in fast company.

The Buckeyes must tangle with unbeaten Kentucky Friday night in a first round contest. If Ohio survives this skirmish, then its foe Saturday night will be the winner of the West Virginia-Oklahoma State game.

While the schedule ahead appears uninviting, Ohio was feeling better about things today after whipping Butler Saturday, 81-69. Larry Huston hit for 25 points and the Buckeyes shot a rousing .479 from the field to win handily. Earlier losses were to Pitt and St. Louis.

In other action last weekend, Ohio's "Big Three"—Cincinnati, Xavier and Dayton, kept their clean records intact.

The Bearcats, ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press poll, turned back Marshall, 106-86, behind all-America Oscar Robertson's 42-point show. It was Cincinnati's third straight win.

Xavier, last year's NIT titlist, ran its victory skein to four with an 80-58 romp over Detroit as Joe Viviano and Hank Stein combined for 45 points.

Dayton had to turn on the steam late in the game to whip Stetson (Fla.) 66-53 for its fourth straight.

In some other big ones, Toledo upset Miami 81-63, to grab first place in the Mid-American Conference; DePaul's late rally nosed out Bowling Green, 73-70; Steubenville copped its 29th straight win trouncing Wilberforce, 97-58; Akron stopped Youngstown's winning streak at three with a 79-66 triumph and Ohio U. remained unbeaten with a 101-83 decision over Southern Illinois.

Ten Buckeye colleges are unbeaten in action with Defiance and Steubenville, both 6-0, leading the pack. Heidelberg, Kenyon, Otterbein, Baldwin-Wallace and Central State have yet to win.

Ohio teams have won 33 and lost 28 in interstate play, having scored 4,503 points against 4,344.

In some top games this week, Miami hosts Marshall Tuesday and Toledo is at home for Western Michigan Wednesday in Mid-American Conference contests; Ohio U. travels to Niagara Thursday; Xavier meets strong Seattle at home Friday.

Saturday, Cincinnati goes to St. Louis for the Missouri Valley Conference opener; Dayton hosts Eastern Kentucky and Miami meets Pitt at Oxford.

Rory Calhoun Battles Jones

CLEVELAND (AP)—When Rory Calhoun battles Ralph (Tiger) Jones in a 10-round middleweight scrap tonight both fighters will be working for a match with a ringside spectator—Carmen Basilio.

Basilio, former welterweight and middleweight champion, has been offered $25,000 to meet the winner of the Calhoun-Jones fight. The offer comes from Cleveland promotor Larry Atkins, who promoted tonight's charity affair sponsored by the Cleveland News toyshop fund for needy children.

"Basilio must fight someone to keep active," Atkins said and added:

"It doesn't look as if Sugar Ray Robinson is interested in fighting. Carmen and his managers said they'd be at ringside tonight to look over Calhoun and Jones."

"In that fight," Jones said, "I thought Calhoun would be coming to me. He didn't."

"I don't know how I'll fight tonight," Jones added, "it depends on Calhoun. I'll probably fight the same kind of fight I did before."

Don Fullmer, West Jordan, Utah vs. Roscoe Shamblin, Youngstown, six rounds, middleweight.

Overcome In Car

HARTSVILLE, S. C. (AP)—Three Ohioans who were overcome by carbon monoxide as their car engine idled in a long line of traffic have been released from the hospital. Released Sunday were Kenneth Zusall of Canton, Donald E. Carter of Shreve (Wayne County) and Faye McFellien of Wooster. They and Chester Carter and James Daughtery, both of Shreve, were driving to Florida to look for work when the accident happened Saturday.

(1) the questions of issuing bonds of said Beaver Local School District in the amount of Two Hundred Twenty Thousand and No/100 Dollars ($220,000.00) for the purpose of constructing fireproof additions to existing fireproof school buildings and additional fireproof facilities for school purposes, remodeling and improving existing fireproof school buildings, furnishing and equipping school buildings and structures and landscaping and otherwise improving school sites as provided by law.

The maximum number of years during which such bonds are to run is twenty-two (22) years.

The estimated average additional tax rate amounts to sixteen cents ($0.16) for each one hundred dollars of valuation, which is one and six-tenths (1.6) mills for each one dollar of valuation, outside of the limitation imposed by Article XII, Section 2 of the Constitution, as certified by the County Auditor and

(2) the question of an additional levy of taxes for the benefit of the Beaver Local School District for the purpose of paying the cost of the purchase of class room facilities from the state at the rate of one-half mill for each one dollar of valuation except that in those years in which the tax rate for debt service outside the ten-mill limitation is less than three and one-half mills, the rate shall be increased to that rate which is the difference between four mills and the tax rate for debt service outside the ten-mill limitation, until the purchase price is paid, but in no case longer than twenty-three (23) years.

The Polls for said Election will open at 6:30 o'clock A.M. and remain open until 6:30 o'clock P.M., Eastern Standard Time, of said day.

By order of the Board of Elections, of Columbiana County, Ohio.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Ratio Of Pounds, Inches At Waist Shown

"How many pounds does one have to lose to take an inch off the waistline? I have heard it's anywhere from one to six, and I would like to know the score."

Ida Jean Kain

Four pounds to the inch is this dietitian's educated guess — but that's a rough estimate. Actually, the number of pounds to the inch depends on whether you are long-waisted or short-waisted. Posture, too, must be taken into account. Those who pull slim through the middle have toned muscles and slimmer lines than those who settle for a dumpy waist.

How do you know whether you are long or short waisted? The span between the natural waist and the top of your hipbones tells the story.

TO FIND YOUR natural waist, take a string or cord and tie it around your waist, pulling tightly. The cord will settle to the smallest part of your figure. This is your natural waistline.

From that line, measure the distance to the crest of the hipbones, those little round nobs below the waistline at sides of silhouette. If this span is a scant two inches, you are short-waisted; a four inch span is average.

If you are long waisted, the span may measure as much as eight inches. For you, keeping willowy and lissome is no trick at all.

Ah well, even though you're short-waisted, bear in mind that style is the way you carry the ribcage. Refuse to settle for a dumpy figure! Pull the waist away from the hips, and lift the ribs up out of the waist. At ease. . .keep shoulders down and relaxed. Square the shoulders and pull slim through the middle measurement.

Try the pinch test. With forefingers and thumbs, pinch the waistline at each side. How much fat can you pick up between thumbs and forefingers? If it's more than a half inch — you either need to tighten the muscles or take off poundage. And either way, lift the ribcage.

THE BEST streamlining technique is to keep the waistline supple. Nature designed the waist to be the most whittled section so we could bend, twist, turn and move easily.

Waistlines have been on the loose of late, fashionwise, but rumor has it that we're soon to get a belt at the waist! Any season now, designers will return to their first love, the svelte, lissome waist. After all, the slim waisted silhouette is young and lovely.

Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for illustrated exercise leaflet, "For A Slimmer Midriff." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Retirement Reminder Given Area Veterans

WEIRTON — Ed Hartman, director of the Weirton Veterans Service, today warned all potential beneficiaries of VA pension laws that war veterans retiring because of age, disability or inability to follow a substantial gainful occupation should file application for Veteran's Pension, Part III benefits.

Hartman urged veterans to file immediately upon retirement unless they have an annual income expectancy from sources other than "plans" to which they made payments or contributions in excess of statutory limitations. Limitations include $2,700 for dependents specified by law or $1,400 with no dependents.

Social security payments are not counted as income by the VA until recipients have been paid an amount by the Social Security Administration equal to the amount paid into the Social Security fund by them, Hartman said.

Panhandle Shrine Club Names 6 New Officers

New officers have been elected by the Northern Panhandle Shrine Club.

Named for one-year terms were John E. Shernit, president; Clyde Cozzens, first vice president; Kermit McIntyre, second vice president; James Black, secretary-treasurer; Emil DeJohn, assistant secretary-treasurer, and Charles E. Carr, members of the board of directors.

Cozzens lives on Route 2 near Chester. All the others are from Weirton. Shernit replaces Clenith Cronin of Newell.

120 Join In Carol Sing At Steubenville Church

Approximately 120 young people of the Steubenville Presbyteries of the Presbyterian and United Presbyterian Churches participated in the annual carol sing Sunday night at the First United Presbyterian Church in Steubenville.

The young people met in the church in the aftrenoon for final practice for the carol sing. Supper was served at 6 in the church social rooms.

Vocalists Appear At Youth Canteen

The "Victorians," a vocal group from Beaver Falls and New Brighton, were featured at the Fairview Youth Canteen dance in the Fairview Grange hall Friday night.

Chaperones included Mrs. Ted Ryms, Mrs. Alice Sosack, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Eckles, Mrs. Paul Rice Jr., Mrs. Joseph Mikesell, Mrs. John Krizan, Mrs. John Flasco, Mrs. Joseph Holava, Mrs. Gen Gianvito and Mrs. Helen Kovacic.

The second annual Christmas dance, a semi-formal affair, will be held in the Grange Hall on Friday, when the "Victorians" will return.

Incompetence Perhaps

NEW HAVEN, Conn., (AP) — Furrier Frederick Joseph is scratching his head over this one. Burglars who broke into his fur store passed up the valuable furs for some 20 less expensive coats.

Hartman urged veterans to file immediately upon retirement unless they have an annual income expectancy from sources other than "plans" to which they made payments or contributions in excess of statutory limitations. Limitations include $2,700 for dependents specified by law or $1,400 with no dependents.

Social security payments are not counted as income by the VA until recipients have been paid an amount by the Social Security Administration equal to the amount paid into the Social Security fund by them, Hartman said.

Incompetence Perhaps

NEW HAVEN, Conn., (AP) — Furrier Frederick Joseph is scratching his head over this one. Burglars who broke into his fur store passed up the valuable furs for some 20 less expensive coats.
